Shores and Headlands Emily Grosholz, 1988 In praise of the poetry of Emily Grosholz Grosholz has a lucid lyrical voice a pure song like quality I think many aspire to this sort of effortless music but few succeed as well as she Alice Fulton The Cliffs at Praiano Remembering backwards I foresaw you years and years ago in this lush obvious haven for romantics fishermen homeless African wind West of Amalfi east of Positano Our village curves to the sea in flights of stairs suspended above the beach a few small fishingboats a clutch of swimmers fill Whenever you enter our wide angled sultry hotel room perched on the cliffs or call my name from the balcony your presence shimmers like a memory of great anticipation Every paradox religion loves seems true as the hour opens on itself and we fall through into that numberless and unexampled matrix As the light steps back across the cliffs and one by one renounces the olive trees the limestone shelves the Saracen fortresses the pines How else could god uncertain at the cross of history appear for us except at a given hour and how else could I touch our love except in these particulars We have been happy in a truckstop south of Roanoke where shadows of semis loomed across the windows browning the yellow neon Love can do without the props of romance And yet Praiano moves us with its wild theatrical display of elements headlands currents breezes strands of light Look at the cliffs I say and mean instead that you are irrevocable Reflected sea light gleams on cliffs day has abandoned just as you stand before me in my words

A Glossary of Chickens Gary J. Whitehead, 2013-03-07 An inventive and observant collection of lyric poems from the Princeton Series of Contemporary Poets With skillful rhetoric and tempered lyricism the poems in A Glossary of Chickens explore in part the struggle to understand the world through the symbolism of words Like the hens of the title poem Gary J Whitehead s lyrics root around in the earth searching for sustenance cluck rather than crow and possess a humble majesty Confronting subjects such as moral depravity nature s indifference aging illness death the tenacity of spirit and the possibility of joy the poems in this collection are accessible and controlled musical and meditative imagistic and richly figurative They are informed by history literature and a deep interest in the natural world touching on a wide range of subjects from the Civil War and whale ships to animals and insects Two poems present biblical narratives the story of Lot s wife and an imagining of Noah in his old age Other poems nod to favorite authors one poem is in the voice of the character Babo from Herman Melville s Benito Cereno while another is a kind of prequel to Emily Dickinson s She rose to His Requirement As inventive as they are observant these memorable lyrics strive for revelation and provide their own revelations

Almanac Austin Smith,2013-09-22 The memorable Stephanie Burt Yale Review and impressive Chicago Tribune debut from a remarkable new voice in poetry Almanac is a collection of lyrical and narrative poems that celebrate and mourn the passing of the world of the small family farm But while the poems are all involved in some way with the rural Midwest particularly with the people and land of the northwestern Illinois dairy farm where Austin Smith was born and raised they are anything but merely regional As the poems reflect on farm life they open out to speak about childhood and death the loss of tradition the destruction of the natural world and the severing of connections between people and the land This collection also reflects on a long poetic apprenticeship Smith s father is a poet himself and Almanac is in part a meditation about the responsibility of the poet especially the young poet when it falls to him to speak for what is vanishing To quote another Illinois poet Thomas James Smith has attempted in this book to write poems clear as the glass of wine on his father s table every Christmas Eve By turns exhilarating and disquieting this is a remarkable debut from a distinctive new voice in American poetry From Almanac THE MUMMY IN THE FREEPORT ART MUSEUM Austin Smith Amongst the masterpieces of the small town Picassos and Van Goghs and photographs of the rural poor and busts of dead Greeks or the molds of busts donated by the Art Institute of Chicago to this dying town's little museum there was a mummy a real mummy laid out in a dim lit room by himself I used to go to the museum just to visit him a pharaoh who expecting an afterlife of beautiful virgins and infinite food and all the riches and jewels he'd enjoyed in earthly life must have wondered how the hell he'd ended up in Freeport Illinois And I used to go alone into that room and stand beside his sarcophagus and say My friend I've asked myself the same thing     Italian Americana ,1995     The 1002nd Night Debora Greger,2014-07-14 While seeming to affirm the Western poetic and cultural tradition Greger attacks its rational heart The subjects of her poems Mozart operas Botticelli's Three Graces narcissus flowers are the vestments of aristocratic Europe but her poetic issue is stream of consciousness Originally published in 1990 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905     Books in Series, 1876-1949 R.R.
