Summary of Yu-lan Fung's A Short History of Chinese Philosophy Everest Media, 2022-06-11T22:59:00Z Please note This is a companion version not the original book Sample Book Insights 1 Chinese civilization has been influenced by philosophy In China philosophy has been the concern of every educated person The Four Books which consist of the Confucian Analects the Book of Mencius the Great Learning and the Doctrine of the Mean have been the most important texts of Neo Confucianist philosophy 2 Reflective thinking is the process of taking life as its object and thinking about it The theory of the universe the theory of knowledge and the concept of life are all the products of reflective thinking 3 The Chinese people have had little concern with religion because they have had so much concern with philosophy They are not religious because they are philosophical In philosophy they satisfy their craving for what is beyond the present actual world 4 The problem that Chinese philosophers have tried to solve is how to achieve the highest form of achievement of which any one kind of man is capable According to the Chinese this is nothing less than being a sage and the highest achievement of a sage is the identification of the individual with the universe A Brief History of the Relationship Between Confucianism, Daoism, and Buddhism Zhongjian Mou, 2023-01-01 Chinese traditions of Confucianism Daoism and Buddhism have a profoundly philosophical dimension The three traditions are frequently referred to as three paths of moral teachings In this book Mou provides a clear account of the textual corpus that emerges to define each of these traditions and how this canonical axis was augmented by a continuing commentarial tradition as each generation reauthorized the written core for their own time and place In his careful exegesis Mou lays out the differences between the more religious reading of these traditions with their defining practices that punctuate the human journey through life and the more intellectual and philosophical treatment of the texts that has and continues to produce a first order culture of annotation that become integral to the traditions themselves At the center of the alternative religious experience reflected throughout the teachings of Confucianism Daoism and Buddhism is the project of personal cultivation as it comes to be expressed as robust growth in family and communal relations For Mou these three highly distinctive and yet complementary ways of thinking and living constitute a kind of moral ecology wherein each of them complements the others as they stand in service to a different dimension of the human need for an educated spirituality *A Short History of the Chinese People.
