MALACHI S COVE N the northern coast of Cornwall between Tintagel and Bossiney down to the very margin of the sea there lived not long since an old man who got his living by saving seaweed from the waves and selling it for manure The cliffs there are bold and fine and the sea beats in upon them from the north with a grand violence I doubt whether it be not the finest morsel of cliff scenery in England though it is beaten by many portions of the west coast of Ireland and perhaps also by spots in Wales and Scotland Cliffs should be nearly precipitous they should be broken in their outlines and should barely admit here and there of an insecure passage from the summit of the sand at their feet The sea should come if not up to them at least very near to them and then above all things the water below them should be blue and not of that dead leaden colour which is so familiar to us in England At Tintagel all these requisites are there except that bright blue colour which is so lovely But the cliffs themselves are bold and well broken and the margin of sand at high water is very narrow so narrow that at spring tides there is barely a footing there Close upon this margin was the cottage or hovel of Malachi Trenglos the old man of whom I have spoken But Malachi or old Glos as he was commonly called by the people around him had not built his house absolutely upon the sand There was a fissure in the rock so great that at the top it formed a narrow ravine and so complete from the summit to the base that it afforded an opening for a steep and rugged track from the top of the rock to the bottom This fissure was so wide at the bottom that it had afforded space for Trenglos to fix his habitation on a foundation of rock

had some very miserable experiences at these two public schools They ranked as two of the most elite schools in England but Trollope had no money and no friends and was bullied a great deal At the age of twelve he fantasized about suicide However he also daydreamed constructing elaborate imaginary worlds In 1827 his mother Frances Trollope moved to America with Trollope s three younger siblings to Nashoba Commune After that failed she opened a bazaar in Cincinnati which proved unsuccessful Thomas Trollope joined them for a short time before returning to the farm at Harrow but Anthony stayed in England throughout His mother returned in 1831 and rapidly made a name for herself as a writer soon earning a good income His father s affairs however went from bad to worse He gave up his legal practice entirely and failed to make enough income from farming to pay rents to his landlord Lord Northwick In 1834 he fled to Belgium to avoid arrest for debt The whole family moved to a house near Bruges where they lived entirely on Frances s earnings In Belgium Anthony was offered a commission in an Austrian cavalry regiment To accept it he needed to learn French and German he had a year in which to acquire these languages To learn them without expense to himself and his family he took a position as an usher in a school in Brussels which position made him the tutor of thirty boys After six weeks of this however he received an offer of a clerkship in the General Post Office obtained through a family friend He returned to London in the autumn of 1834 to take up this post
