

The Lymphatic System

Lymph and lymph vessels

Lymph is a clear, colorless fluid that circulates through the lymphatic system. It is composed of white blood cells, antibodies, and other substances that help fight infection and disease. Lymph vessels are thin-walled tubes that carry lymph throughout the body. They are found in all parts of the body, including the skin, muscles, and organs.

Lymph nodes

Lymph nodes are small, bean-shaped organs that are part of the lymphatic system. They are located throughout the body, often in clusters. Lymph nodes filter lymph and remove any foreign particles, such as bacteria or viruses, that may be present. They also produce and store lymphocytes, which are white blood cells that help fight infection.

Inflammatory and immune responses

The lymphatic system plays a key role in the body's inflammatory and immune responses. When an infection or injury occurs, the lymphatic system helps to remove the offending agent and transport it to the lymph nodes. In the lymph nodes, the immune system mounts a response to the antigen, which may involve the production of antibodies or the activation of T cells. The lymphatic system also helps to regulate the inflammatory response, preventing it from becoming excessive and causing tissue damage.

What is the lymphatic system?

The lymphatic system is a network of vessels and organs that help to remove waste and fight infection. It is composed of lymph nodes, lymph vessels, and lymphoid organs. The lymphatic system is part of the body's immune system and plays a key role in maintaining overall health.

Lymphoid intestinal tissue

Lymphoid intestinal tissue is a type of lymphoid tissue found in the lining of the small intestine. It is composed of lymphocytes and other immune cells that help to protect the body from infection. Lymphoid intestinal tissue is part of the gut-associated lymphoid tissue (GALT) and plays a key role in the body's immune response to pathogens that enter through the mouth.

Formation of lymphocytes

Lymphocytes are a type of white blood cell that are part of the immune system. They are formed in the bone marrow from hematopoietic stem cells. There are three main types of lymphocytes: B cells, T cells, and natural killer (NK) cells. Each type of lymphocyte has a specific role in the body's immune response.
