Murrow, 2021-11 Critical Theories, Radical Pedagogies, and Social Education, 2010-01-01 A refreshing collection of essays that offers a range of critical and radical voices which are generally marginalized in the critical social studies mainstream This collection is a good read with valuable insights that can impact teaching practice Canadian Social Studies Canada's National Social Studies Journal Volume 45 Issue 1 Award American Educational Studies Association AERA Critics Choice Book Award 2011 This edited collection begins with the assertion that there are emergent and provocative theories and practices that should be part of the discourse on social studies education in the 21st century Anarchist eco activist anti capitalist and other radical perspectives such as disability studies and critical race theory are explored as viable alternatives in responding to current neo conservative and neo liberal educational policies shaping social studies curriculum and teaching Despite the interdisciplinary nature the field and a historical commitment to investigating fundamental social issues such as democracy human rights and social justice social studies theory and practice tends to be steeped in a reproductive framework celebrating and sustaining the status quo encouraging passive acceptance of current social realities and historical constructions rather than a critical examination of alternatives These tendencies have been reinforced by education policies such as No Child Left Behind which have narrowly defined ways of knowing as rooted in empirical science and apolitical forms of comprehension This book comes at a pivotal moment for radical teaching and for critical pedagogy bringing the radical debate occurring in social sciences and in activist circles where global protests have demonstrated the success that radical actions can have in resisting rigid state hierarchies and oppressive regimes worldwide to social studies education

Warren,2010-09-02 Fire in the Heart uncovers the dynamic processes through which some white Americans become activists for racial justice The book reports powerful accounts of the development of racial awareness drawn from in depth interviews with fifty white activists in the fields of community organizing education and criminal justice reform Drawing extensively on the rich interview material Mark Warren shows how white Americans can develop a commitment to racial justice not just because it is the right thing to do but because they embrace the cause as their own Contrary to much contemporary thinking on racial issues focused on altruism or interests Warren finds that cognitive and rational processes alone do little to move whites to action Rather the motivation to take and sustain action for racial justice is profoundly moral and relational Warren shows how white activists come to find common cause with people of color when their core values are engaged as they build relationships with people of color that lead to caring and when they develop a vision of a racially just future that they understand to benefit everyone themselves other whites and people of color Warren also considers the complex dynamics and dilemmas white people face in working in multiracial organizations committed to systemic change in America s racial order and provides a deeper understanding and appreciation of the role that white people can play in efforts to promote racial justice The first study of its kind Fire in the Heart brings to light the perspectives of white people who are working day to day to build not a post racial America but the foundations for a truly multiracial America rooted in a caring
