Bridges, Alfred Sheppard Dashiell, Harlan Logan, 1906 Routledge's school reciter for boys and girls George Routledge (and sons; ltd.), 1883 The Bolenius Readers Emma Miller Bolenius, 1929 Ivanhoe Sir Walter Scott, 2021-02-01 Sir Wilfred of Ivanhoe is a Saxon knight whose allegiance to King Richard and love for Lady Rowena severely damages his relationship with his father. He is disinherited from his family and must find a respectable way to re-enter society. In twelfth century England tensions between the Saxons and Normans are at an all time high. Following the Third Crusade Sir Wilfred Ivanhoe a Saxon knight offers his support to the Norman King Richard which pits him against his father Cedric. Ivanhoe is also in love with the beautiful Lady Rowena whom Cedric has promised to another. Due to his actions the knight loses his family claim and is left to fend for himself. Ivanhoe chooses to conceal his identity entering a tournament to regain his honor and the admiration of Lady Rowena. A classic tale informed by historical events Ivanhoe is one of Sir Walter Scott's most enduring stories. It was famously adapted in 1952 as a feature film starring Robert Taylor, Elizabeth Taylor and Joan Fontaine. With an eye catching new cover and professionally typeset manuscript this edition of Ivanhoe is both modern and readable.

Contested Spaces: Abortion Clinics, Women's Shelters and Hospitals Lori A. Brown, 2016-05-13 In this book Lori Brown examines the relationship between space defined physically, legally and legislatively and how these factors directly impact the spaces of abortion. It analyzes how various political entities shape the physical landscapes of inclusion and exclusion to reproductive healthcare access and questions what architecture's responsibilities are in respect to this spatial conflict. Employing writing, drawing and mapping methodologies this interdisciplinary project explores restrictions and legislatures which directly influence abortion policy in the US, Mexico and Canada. It questions how these legal rulings produce spatial complexities and why architecture isn't more culturally and spatially engaged with these spaces. In Mexico where abortion is fully legal only in Mexico City during the first trimester women must travel vast distances and undergo extreme conditions in order to access the procedure. Conservative state governments continue to make abortion a severely punishable crime. In Canada there are nowhere near the cultural and religious stigmas to abortion as in the US and Mexico. Completely legal and without restrictions Canada offers an important contrast to the ongoing abortion issues within the US and Mexico. Researching the spatial implications of such a politicized space this book expands beyond a study of abortion clinic and includes other spaces such as women's shelters and hospitals that require multiple levels of secured spaces in order to discuss the spatial ramifications of access and security within spaces that are highly personal, private and sometimes secret or even hidden. In questioning what architecture's responsibility is in these spatial conflicts the book looks at how what architecture does can be used to reconsider the spaces and security around such contested places and ultimately suggests what design's potential impact might be. In doing so it shows how architecture's role might be redefined within social and spatial practices.

Representing the Holocaust in Children's Literature Lydia Kokkola, 2013-10-15 Writing about the Holocaust and writing for young readers evoke two quite separate sets of concerns which are not always mutually compatible.

The first half of Representing the Holocaust focuses on how literary material can present historically verifiable material. The second half examines how such materials will be perceived by young readers whether they will be able to determine any boundaries between fictionality and factuality and what motivates young readers to keep reading. The work concludes by placing the study in the context of Holocaust education.
