Newman, 2013-11-20 Charts the history and development of Twelver Shiism As many as 40 different Shi'i groups existed in the 9th and 10th centuries only 3 forms remain Why is Twelver Shiism one of them As the established faith in modern Iran the majority faith in Iraq and areas in the Gulf and with its adherents forming sizeable minorities elsewhere in the region it is arguably the most successful branch of Shiism Andrew Newman charts the history Twelver Shiism uncovering the development of the key distinctive doctrines and practices which ensured its survival in the face of repeated challenges He argues that the key to the faith's endurance has been its ability to institutionalise responses

these and many more as you read through the whole book Constructing Religious Martyrdom John Soboslai,2024-06-27

Martyrdom is a phenomenon common to many of the world's religious traditions. But why? In this study, John Soboslai offers insights into the practices of self-sacrifice within specific sociopolitical contexts. Providing a new understanding of martyrdom through the lens of political theology, he analyzes discourses and performances in four religious traditions during social and political crises: beginning with second-century Christianity in Asia Minor where the term martyr first took its meaning; He also analyzes Shi'a Islam in the 1980s when suicide bombing first appeared as a strategy; in West Asia, global Sikhism during World War I where martyrs stood for and against the British Raj; and twenty-first-century Tibetan Buddhism where self-immolators used their bodies in opposition to the programs of the People's Republic of China. Presenting a new theory of martyrdom linked to constructions of sovereign authority, Soboslai reveals common features of self-sacrifice and demonstrates how bodily performances buttress conceptions of authority.

Christian Encounters with Iran Sasan Tavassoli,2011-04-30

The interface between the current Shi'ite landscape and Christian thinking is of the greatest significance for the shifting political and religious dynamics of the Middle East. Sasan Tavassoli here examines Iranian Shi'ite thinkers' encounters with Christian thought since the Islamic revolution of 1979 and provides insight into the cultural and intellectual climate surrounding Christian-Muslim dialogue in contemporary Iran. The literature on Christianity in Iran reveals a wide range of approaches and attitudes, and Tavassoli demonstrates that traditional polemics are giving way to a more descriptive and subjective understanding of Christian thought. He also studies Muslim-Christian dialogue and research conducted and supported by governmental as well as non-governmental organizations and offers a close examination with interviews of the work of three prominent liberal religious intellectuals: Abdol Karim Soroush, Mostafa Malekian, and Mojtaba Shabestari. Placing contemporary Shi'ite thought in the broad historical context of pre and post-revolution Iran, Tavassoli relates concrete religious, cultural, and socio-political realities to the themes and orientations in the latest phase of the Shi'i-Islam-Christianity encounter and offers fresh insight into the dynamism of contemporary Islam and the religious complexities of the Muslim world.
