Nicol,2018-02-06 Excerpt from Ship Construction and Calculations With Numerous Illustrations and Examples for the Use of Officers of the Mercantile Marine Ship Superintendents Draughtsmen Etc It is hoped the book will be found useful by officers of the Mercantile Marine ship superintendents draughtsmen and shipyard apprentices to all of whom a more or less intimate knowledge of naval architecture is essential To the officer mariner the subject may now be said to be a compulsory one in that those who wish to qualify for the certificate of extra master must pass an examination in it But besides this there are other good reasons why an officer should know something regarding the construction and theory of ships For instance it would enable him if called upon to act as inspector on behalf of his employers at the building of a new vessel or the repair of an old one Or if his vessel were to receive sudden damage calling for immediate temporary repairs it would give him confidence in directing his crew in the carrying out of these In the management of his vessel a oat a knowledge of simple theory would assist him at any time to arrive quickly at satisfactory conditions of draught trim and stability unattainable by mere guess work or a system of trial and error In other ways also such knowledge would prove useful The examples chosen for illustration throughout the book have been selected for their practical interest and every effort has been exerted to make the explanations simple In conclusion the author begs to thank Messrs J L Thompson Sons Ltd Sunderland for their kind permission to publish diagrams and results of calculations of vessels built by them and he also desires to acknowledge his indebtedness to Mr W Thompson e sc for help in reading the proof sheets and in verifying the examples as well as for other valuable assistance rendered while the work was passing through the press About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works      The

Vol. 1 John Harvard Biles, 2015-07-28 Excerpt from The Design and Construction of Ships Vol 1 Vol 1 Calculation and Strength This book is the written word of many years of lecturing in Glasgow University As these lectures have never been written as they were delivered and as new matter was necessarily added to the lectures as it became available the chapters of this book do not represent any one systematic series of lectures though there is little in the book but what has been given at some time to the students The process of writing such a book is very dissimilar to that of writing most books Much of it at first was collected from lecture notes by one or other of my assistants These collections were elaborated modified rewritten in parts and finally corrected in the form in which they now appear In the collecting and correcting process I was continually helped by my assistants and students but the bulk of the assistance was given me by Mr J G Johnstone B Sc to whom I am indebted for saving me a great deal of detail work in the collection of what I have given from time to time in my lectures Some of the calculations were made by students of the Naval Architecture Class This book cannot possibly lay any large claim to originality The greater part is necessarily the work of others who went before or who are now working for the advancement of the science of Naval Architecture Very little attempt has been made to acknowledge the sources of such help The subject is too wide to attempt to acknowledge all the sources even if one were qualified to do so But there are parts which are original work given for the first time in the lecture room though some has been already published mostly in the Transactions of the Institution of Naval Architects The subject is developing year by year and often so rapidly as to make it very difficult if not almost impossible to read all that is published on the subject There are further stores of knowledge which are never published and are only accessible to individuals associated with the shipbuilding establishments in which much expense is incurred in investigations and experiments for the advancement of knowledge of the subject About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
