Club in Liverpool until its closure in 2007 to examine changing urban sites and landscapes as well as the city's historically shifting constitutive connections. In considering the historical presence of Malay seamen in Liverpool draws attention to a group which has previously received only passing mention in historical and geographical studies of both that city and of multi ethnic Britain more widely. Demonstrates that Liverpool based Malay men sustained social connections with Southeast Asia long before scholars began to use terms such as globalization or transnationalism. Based on a diverse range of empirical data including interviews with members of the Malay Club in Liverpool and interviews in Southeast Asia as well as archival and secondary sources. Accessibly written for non academic audiences interested in the history and urban social geography of Liverpool.

The Blue Funnel Legend Malcolm Falkus, 2016-07-27 For more than a century Blue Funnel ships managed from Liverpool by Alfred Holt and Company held a unique place in Britain's shipping industry. Starting as pioneers of cargo liners between Liverpool and the Far East in 1866 the Company maintained a fine reputation built on its vessels crews shore staff and management. This book traces the origins and evolution of the Line charting its history through both world wars its experiences in the great depression of the 1930s and its vigorous response to the challenge of containerisation in the 1960s. Integrated into the text are discussions of the current roles of agencies and conferences the singular management structure and assessments of the parts played by key individuals.

Shipping Company Losses of the Second World War Ian M. Malcolm, 2013-07-01 During the Second World War the Merchant Navy suffered a higher percentage loss than any of the British armed forces but despite this extraordinary fact few people today are aware of it. In total 33 000 merchant seamen died while others were severely injured both physically and mentally. This book is an important volume attempting to dispel the ignorance and for the first time brings together a wealth of information concerning ship losses including such details as ships names their captains the route they were lost on date and positions when lost loss of life and many other particulars. A former wartime Merchant Navy man himself Malcolm presents a compendium of shipping company losses that is staggering in scale. This work will be of great value to shipping enthusiasts and anyone interested in the war at sea.

Cargo Liners Ambrose Greenway, 2012-02-29 The British maritime historian explores the golden age of cargo liners and the routes they took around the world in this beautifully illustrated volume. From 1850 to 1950 the cargo liner grew to dominate the world's trade routes providing regular services that merchants shippers and importers could rely on. They carried much of the world's high value goods and their services spread to most corners of the world. They were the tool of the world's first phase of globalization. Illustrated with more than 300 photographs Cargo Liners tells the story of these majestic ships beginning with the establishment of routes around Europe and across the North Atlantic in the 1850s. When marine engineer Alfred Holt developed high pressure compound engines vessels began to steam further afield reaching ports in the Far East and Australia Then the opening of the Suez Canal in 1869 cemented the dominance of the cargo liner Only with the appearance of the first container ship in the 1950s was that dominance finally overthrown The Mariner's Mirror Bibliography for ...,2002 Focus on Indonesia ,1967 Shipping and Globalization in the Post-War Era Niels P.
