British cinema of the 1950s Ian Mackillop, Neil Sinyard, 2018-07-30 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY-NC-ND open access license. Offers a startling re-evaluation of what has until now been seen as the most critically lacklustre period of the British film history. Covers a variety of genres such as B movies, war films, women's pictures and theatrical adaptations, as well as social issues which affect film-making such as censorship. Includes fresh assessment of maverick directors Pat Jackson, Robert Hamer and Joseph Losey, and even of a maverick critic Raymond Durgnat. Features personal insights from those individually implicated in 1950s cinema: Corin Redgrave on Michael Redgrave, Isabel Quigly on film reviewing and Bryony Dixon of the BFI on archiving and preservation. Presents a provocative challenge to conventional wisdom about 1950s film and rediscovers the Festival of Britain decade. One Day I'll Remember This Helen Garner, 2020-11-03 In this second volume of diaries from one of Australia's greatest writers, we see Garner in love, asking herself questions about relationships, individuality, morality and contentment. For readers of Lisa Taddeo's Three Women and avid Garner fans, this volume illuminates the inner life of a writer with all its turmoil and joy.

The Cinema of Britain and Ireland Brian McFarlane, 2005 A fresh, concise but wide-ranging introduction to and overview of British and Irish cinema. This volume contains 24 essays, each on a separate seminal film from the region. Films under discussion include Pink String and Sealing Wax. Room at the Top, The Italian Job, Orlando and Sweet Sixteen. British Cinema of the 1950s Sue Harper, Vincent Porter, 2003 In this definitive and long-awaited history of 1950s British cinema, Sue Harper and Vincent Porter draw extensively on previously unknown archive material to chart the growing rejection of post-war deference by both film-makers and cinema audiences. Competition from television and successive changes in government policy all forced the production industry to become more market-sensitive. The films produced by Rank and Ealing, many of which harked back to wartime structures of feeling, were challenged by those backed by Anglo-Amalgamated and Hammer. The latter knew how to address the rebellious feelings and growing sexual discontents of a new generation of consumers. Even the British Board of Film Censors had to adopt a more liberal attitude. The collapse of the studio system also meant that the screenwriters and the art directors had to cede creative control to a new generation of independent producers and film directors. Harper and Porter explore the effects of these social, cultural, industrial and economic changes on 1950s British cinema.
