Shirin Neshat, Two Installations Bill Horrigan, Shirin Neshat, 2000 One of the most exciting and important young artists of the past decade Iranian born Shirin Neshat has addressed issues of nation colonialism and gender in a variety of media always challenging our preconceptions about art and society She is particularly renowned for her film installations which have been featured at several Whitney Biennials and this new catalogue accompanies Rapture and Fervor the second and third films in a trilogy exploring the social political and psychological dimensions of women's experience in contemporary Islamic societies The emphasis here is on the interplay between the explicit text and the implicit subtext in Islamic ritual and how the emotions stirred up by these rituals can take on mercurial and contradictory forms Shirin Neshat Steven Henry Madoff, Mahnaz Afkhami, 2015 This catalogue is published in conjunction with the exhibition Shirin Neshat Facing History organized by the Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden Smithsonian Institution Washington DC May 18 - September 20 2015 Title page verso

Translation and Transgression in the Art of Shirin Neshat Erin C. Devine, 2023-10-05
Precisely 30 years after the debut of her provocative photo portraits this book chronicles the early career of Iranian American artist Shirin Neshat In its first 20 years Neshat's work weaved viewers into complex readings of women and power in Iran Yet her images also drew criticisms of exoticizing Muslim women and later video installations were accused of lacking political assertion during stormy relations between the West and the Islamic world Now broadly recognized as a social justice artist this volume chronicles Neshat's evolution from photography to film from personal to political expression and expands existing scholarship to investigate underserved contexts for her work including the cinematic turn and emergent theories of globality in contemporary art Neshat's hyphenated identity was often attenuated by reductive and exoticizing discourses therefore this volume draws attention to her transnational methodologies informed by strategies of appropriation performativity and embodiment while articulating Persian visual and literary traditions Complicating simplistic ethnographies her disruption of neo Orientalist paradigms and representations has led audiences to reconsider Islamophobic Islamism and gender repressions that are political psychological and above all cross cultural This book will be of interest to scholars working in art history photography cinema studies performance transnational and global studies women's studies and Iranian studies

Video Art Theory Helen Westgeest, 2015-06-15. Video Art Theory: A Comparative Approach demonstrates how video art functions on the basis of a comparative media approach providing a crucial understanding of video as a medium in contemporary art and of the visual mediations we encounter in daily life. A critical investigation of the visual media and selected video artworks which contributes to the understanding of video as a medium in contemporary art. The only study specifically devoted to theorizing the medium of video from the perspective of prominent characteristics which result from how video works deal with time, space, representation and narrative. The text has emerged out of the author's own lectures and seminars on video art. Offers a comparative approach which students find especially useful offering new perspectives.

In a Queer Time and Place J. Jack Halberstam, 2005-01-01. The first full length study of transgender representations in art, fiction, film, video and music. In his first book since the critically acclaimed Female Masculinity J. Jack Halberstam examines the significance of the transgender body in a provocative collection of essays on queer time and space. He presents a series of case studies focused on the meanings of masculinity in its dominant and alternative forms especially female and trans masculinities as they exist within subcultures and are appropriated within mainstream culture. In a Queer Time and Place opens with a probing analysis of the life and death of Brandon Teena, a young transgender man who was brutally murdered in small town Nebraska. After looking at mainstream representations of the transgender body as exhibited in the media frenzy surrounding this highly visible case and the Oscar winning film based on Brandon's story Boys Don't Cry, Halberstam turns his attention to the cultural and artistic production of queers themselves. He examines the transgender gaze as rendered in small art house films like By Hook or By Crook as well as figurations of ambiguous embodiment in the art of Del LaGrace Volcano, Jenny Saville, Eva Hesse, Shirin Neshat and others. He then exposes the influence of lesbian drag king cultures upon hetero male comic films such as Austin Powers and The Full Monty and finally points to dyke subcultures as one site for the development of queer counterpublics and queer temporalities. Considering the sudden visibility of the transgender body in the early twenty first century against the backdrop of changing conceptions of space and time, In a Queer Time and Place is the first full length study of transgender representations in art, fiction, film, video and music. This pioneering book offers both a jumping off point for future analysis of transgenderism and an important new way to understand cultural constructions of time and place.

Installations by Architects Sarah Bonnemaïson, Ronit Eisenbach, 2009-08-12. Over the last few decades a rich and increasingly diverse practice has emerged in the art world that invites the public to touch, enter and experience the work whether it is in a gallery, on city streets or in the landscape. Like architecture many of these temporary artworks aspire to alter viewers' experience of the environment. An installation is usually the end product for an artist but for architects it can also be a preliminary step in an ongoing design process Like paper projects designed in the absence of real architecture installations offer architects another way to engage in issues critical to their practice Direct experimentation with architecture's material and social dimensions engages the public around issues in the built environment that concern them and expands the ways that architecture can participate in and impact people's everyday lives The first survey of its kind Installations by Architects features fifty of the most significant projects from the last twenty five years by today's most exciting architects including Anderson Anderson Philip Beesley Diller Scofidio John Hejduk Dan Hoffman and Kuth Ranieri Architects Projects are grouped in critical areas of discussion under the themes of tectonics body nature memory and public space Each project is supplemented by interviews with the project architects and the discussions of critics and theorists situated within a larger intellectual context There is no doubt that installations will continue to play a critical role in the practice of architecture Installations by Architects aims to contribute to the role of installations in sharpening our understanding of the built environment

Screens Kate Mondloch,2013-11-30 Media screens film video and computer screens have increasingly pervaded both artistic production and everyday life since the 1960s Yet the nature of viewing artworks made from these media along with their subjective effects remains largely unexplored Screens addresses this gap offering a historical and theoretical framework for understanding screen reliant installation art and the spectatorship it evokes Examining a range of installations created over the past fifty years that investigate the rich terrain between the sculptural and the cinematic including works by artists such as Eija Liisa Ahtila Doug Aitken Peter Campus Dan Graham VALIE EXPORT Bruce Nauman and Michael Snow Kate Mondloch traces the construction of screen spectatorship in art from the seminal film and video installations of the 1960s and 1970s to the new media artworks of today s digital culture Mondloch identifies a momentous shift in contemporary art that challenges key premises of spectatorship brought about by technological objects that literally and metaphorically filter the subject s field of vision As a result she proposes that contemporary viewers are quite literally screen subjects and offers the unique critical leverage of art as an alternative way to understand media culture and contemporary visuality A History of the Western
