Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2000      Robert Drew and the Development of Cinema Verite in America P.J.

O'Connell,2010-03-19 Author P J O Connell traces Robert Drew s influence on cinema verite through extensive interviews with Drew and with some of the founding fathers of American cinema verite filmmaking Donn Alan Pennebaker Gregory Shuker and Richard Leacock Robert Drew s contributions to documentary film have been both technical and conceptual Realizing that his equipment was too heavy and intrusive Drew persuaded Time Life Broadcasting to sponsor the development of new lightweight portable synchronous sound equipment that freed documentary filmmakers from the bulky tripod mounted AC powered equipment of the past His new technology allowed him to capture intense moments as they happened and to make viewers feel personally involved in the events he presented While making more than twenty documentaries in the early 1960s Drew continued to initiate innovations that were not thought possible a generation before him P J O Connell is the executive producer of public affairs at Penn State Television and an affiliate assistant professor in the School of Communication at Penn State University      European Cinemas in the Television Age Dorota

Ostrowska,2007-02-01 European Cinemas in the Television Age is a radical attempt to rethink the post war history of European cinemas The authors approach the subject from the perspective of television s impact on the culture of cinema s production distribution consumption and reception Thus they indicate a new direction for the debate about the future of cinema in Europe In every European country television has transformed economic technological and aesthetic terms in which the process of cinema production had been conducted Television s growing popularity has drastically reshaped cinema s audiences and forced governments to introduce policies to regulate the interaction between cinema and television in the changing and dynamic audio visual environment It is cinematic criticism which was slowest in coming to terms with the presence of television and therefore most instrumental in perpetuating the view of cinema as an isolated object of aesthetic critical and academic inquiry The recognition of the impact of television upon European cinemas offers a more authentic and richer picture of cinemas in Europe which are part of the complex audiovisual matrix including television and new media
