Australian National Bibliography: 1992 National Library of Australia, 1988 Sport in Australian National Identity Tony Ward, 2013-09-13 For many Australians there are two great passions sport and taking the piss This book is about national identity and especially about Australia s image as a sporting country Whether reverent or not any successful national image has to reflect something about the reality of the country But it is also influenced by the reasons that people have for encouraging particular images and by the conflicts between differing views of national identity and of sport Buffeted by these elements both the extent of Australian sports madness and the level of stirring have varied considerably over time While many refer to long lasting factors such as the amount of sunshine this book argues that the ebb and flow of sporting images are strongly linked to current views of national identity Starting from Archer s win in the first Melbourne Cup in 1861 it traces the importance of trade unions in the formation of Australian Rules the success of a small rural town in holding one of the world s foremost running races and the win from behind of a fat arsed wombat knocking off the official mascots of Sydney 2000 This book was based on a special issue of Soccer and Society Australian national bibliography ,1961

Cultural Landscapes and Environmental Change Lesley Head, 2017-09-25 Cultural landscapes are usually understood within physical geography as those transformed by human action As human influence on the earth increases advances in palaeocological reconstruction have also allowed for new interpretations of the evidence for the earliest human impacts on the environment It is essential that such evidence is examined in the context of modern trends in social sciences and humanities This stimulating new book argues that convergence of the two approaches can provide a more holistic understanding of long term physical and human processes Split into two major sections this book attempts to bridge the gap between the sciences and humanities The first section provides an analysis of the methodological tools employed in examining processes of environmental change Empirical research in the fields of palaeocology and Quaternary studies is combined with the latest theoretical views of nature and landscape occurring in cultural geography archaeology and anthropology The author examines the way in which environmental management decisions are made The book then moves on to discuss the relevance of this perspective to contemporary issues through a wide variety of international case studies including World Heritage protection landscape preservation indigenous people and cultural tourism The Spectator ,1863 of perspectives even within parties the research uncovers a productive if often hostile relationship united by a series of shared values but divided by different approaches to politics elections and parliament Featuring a preface by Geoff Gallop

Science, Technology and Global Governance John R. De La Mothe, 2014-04-23 Science technology and innovation have long been key factors in the competitive advantage of nations Today however the new international political economy is being increasingly driven by science and technology in new ways Integration globalization and internationalization have all become watchwords for a series of dynamic processes in which science and technology are deeply implicated As a result not only are the policies of national governments being exposed in terms of the limits of their sovereignty but science and technology are being increasingly implicated in a wide array of public issues ranging from security privacy development and economic growth to employment environment foreign policy and geopolitics Clearly in today s emerging world the ways in which governments organize their science and technology policy their science and technology intelligence and their research advisory structures and resources matter more today than ever before In turn the contract between science and democracy is being rapidly redefined This book is the first to comprehensively discuss these critical issues Equality for Women = Prosperity for All

Augusto Lopez-Claros, Bahiyyih Nakhjavani, 2018-10-30 A groundbreaking book about the direct relationship between a woman s rights and freedoms and the economic prosperity of her country The authors speak to hearts as well as minds Maud de Boer Buquicchio UN Special Rapporteur Not only timely but profoundly important a must read Jackie Jones Professor of Feminist Legal studies Gender discrimination is often seen from a human rights perspective it is a violation of women s basic human rights as embedded in the Universal Declaration the UN Charter and other such founding documents Moreover there is overwhelming evidence that restrictions and various forms of discrimination against women are also bad economics They undermine the talent pool available to the private sector they distort power relationships within the family and lead to inefficiencies in the use of resources They contribute to create an environment in which women de facto are second class citizens with fewer options than men lower quality jobs lower pay often the victims of various forms of violence literally from the cradle to the grave They are also not fully politically empowered and have scant presence in the corridors of power whether as finance ministers central bank governors prime ministers or on the boards of leading corporations Why is gender inequality so pervasive Where does it come from Does it have cultural and religious roots And what are the sorts of policies and values that will deliver a world in which being born a boy or a girl is no longer a measure of the likelihood of developing one s human potential
