Sacred Architecture:

Water and Sacred Architecture Anat Geva, 2023-05-25 This edited book examines architectural representations that tie water as a physical and symbolic property with the sacred. The discussion centers on two levels of this relationship: how water influenced the sacredness of buildings across history and different religions, and how sacred architecture expressed the spiritual meaning of water. The volume deliberately offers original material on various unique contextual and design aspects of water and sacred architecture rather than an attempt to produce a historic chronological analysis on the topic or focusing on a specific geographical region. As such, this unique volume adds a new dimension to the study of sacred architecture. The book's chapters are compiled by a stellar group of scholars and practitioners from the US, Canada, Europe, Asia, and Africa. It addresses major aspects of water in religious buildings such as rituals, pilgrimage, water as a cultural material, and place making; hydro systems; modern practices; environmental considerations; the contribution of water to transforming secular into sacred; and future digital/cyber context of water and sacredness. All chapters are based on original archival studies, historical documents, and field visits to the sites and buildings. These examinations show water as an expression of architectural design, its materiality, and its spiritual values. The book will be of interest to architects, historians, environmentalists, archaeologists, religious scholars, and preservationists.

Symbols and Language in Sacred Christian Architecture Radu Dragan, Augustin Ioan, 1996 This volume addresses questions regarding contemporary interpretation of the language of sacred and religious buildings. While inspired by Heidegger's hermeneutic approach as well as by Chomsky's view on language and Eliade's archetypes and symbols, its interpretive hypothesis appropriates the Orthodox Christian perspective on church architecture. The second half of the book is a close reading of the Bible pertaining to questions on architecture and is presented both historically and symbolically. The purpose of the interpretation is to trace back the possible grounds for a primitive hut of the sacred space, the never-existing first Christian church. In an environment striving for a renewed ecumenical unity, such a hermeneutical approach on sensitive issues such as sacred religious architecture pursued by two architectural scholars from Eastern Europe's Romania is meant to propose a fresh overview of a timeless question.

The Earth, the Temple, and the Gods Vincent Scully, 2013-10-10 When The Earth, the Temple, and the Gods first appeared in 1962, it was hailed by the critics for its erudition, historical imagination, and boldness. Subsequently, this comprehensive study of Greek temples and site planning has been widely accepted as a landmark of architectural history for it offers an inspired and arresting insight into the nature and function of Greek sacred architecture. Vincent Scully, one of America's most brilliant and articulate scholars, understands the temples as physical embodiment of the gods in landscapes that had for the Greeks divine attributes and sacred connotations. He explores the meanings inherent in the calculated interaction between man-made sculptural forces and the natural landscape and relates this interaction to our understanding of Greek culture from the pre-Greek Aegean to the Hellenistic period. Years of research and travel were devoted to The Earth, the Temple, and the Gods. Scores of sites were restudied on the spot including many lesser known sanctuaries throughout the Hellenic world The study includes reconstruction drawings plans and maps along with its richly illustrated detailed discussions of major sites

Sacred Buildings Rudolf Stegers, 2008-05-16 The building of religious structures represents a rare opportunity for the architect to concentrate on the creation of volume space and form Sacred architecture is far less determined than other building tasks by functional requirements norms and standards As a rule it is free to unfold as pure architecture Thus in design terms this building task offers enormous freedoms to the architect At the same time however the special atmospherics of sacred spaces call on the part of the architect for a highly sensitive treatment of religion and the relevant cultural and architectural traditions In a systematic section this volume introduces the design technical and planning fundamentals of building churches synagogues and mosques In its project section it also presents about seventy realized structures from the last three decades Drawing upon his in depth knowledge of the subject and his many years of publishing experience the author offers a valuable analysis of the conceptual and formal aspects that combine to create the religious impact of spaces e g the ground plan the shapes of the spaces the incidence of light and materiality

The Hermeneutics of Sacred Architecture: Hermeneutical calisthenics : a morphology of ritual-architectural priorities Lindsay Jones, 2000 The two volumes of this investigation into how we perceive sacred architecture propose an original interpretation of built environments as ritual architectural events Exploring the world's cultures and religious traditions Volume One maps out patterned responses to sacred architecture according to the human experience mechanism interpretation and comparison of architecture Volume Two an exercise in comparative morphology offers a comprehensive framework of ritual architectural priorities by looking at architecture as orientation as commemoration and as ritual context

New Sacred Architecture Phyllis Richardson, 2004 This timely book reflects an awakening of interest in religious faiths and the emergence of a global exchange of architecture and culture While Spain's Rafael Moneo has recently completed a cathedral in Los Angeles Britain's Thomas Heatherwick is designing a Buddhist temple in Japan John Pawson is working on a Cistercian monastery in the Czech Republic and Richard Meier has completed his Jubilee Church in Rome It seems as one Wallpaper registered pundit commented religion is getting a redesign and the architect's faith is as unimportant as his or her nationality I Looking at ways in which contemporary architects are approaching religious or meditative space this book focuses on churches chapels temples synagogues and mosques that have been built in the last few years and that represent a late twentieth early twenty first century aesthetic

Modern Architecture and the Sacred Ross Anderson, Maximilian Sternberg, 2020-11-26 This edited volume Modern Architecture and the Sacred presents a timely reappraisal of the manifold engagements that modern architecture has had with the sacred It comprises fourteen individual chapters arranged in three thematic sections Beginnings and Transformations of the Modern Sacred Buildings for Modern Worship and Semi Sacred Settings in the Cultural Topography of Modernity The first interprets the intellectual and artistic roots of modern ideas of the sacred in the post Enlightenment period and tracks the transformation of these in architecture over time The second studies the ways in which organized religion responded to the challenges of the new modern self understanding and then the third investigates the ways that abstract modern notions of the sacred have been embodied in the ersatz sacred contexts of theatres galleries memorials and museums While centring on Western architecture during the decisive period of the first half of the 20th century a time that takes in the early musings on spirituality by some of the avant garde in defiance of Sachlichkeit and the machine aesthetic the volume also considers the many varied appropriations of sacrality that architects have made up to the present day and also in social and cultural contexts beyond the West

The Return of Sacred Architecture Herbert Bangs, 2006-11-14 An inspirational call for a return to the tenets of traditional architecture as a remedy for the dehumanizing standards of modern architecture Explains how modern architecture is emblematic of our current estrangement from the spiritual principles that shaped humanity's greatest civilizations Reveals how the ancient laws of sacred proportion and harmony can be restored The ugly buildings that characterize the modern landscape are inferior not only to the great cathedrals of medieval Europe and the temples of ancient Egypt and Greece but even to lesser buildings of the more recent past The great masterworks of our ancestors spoke to humanity's higher nature Architect Herbert Bangs reveals how today's dysfunctional buildings bring out the worst in humanity reinforcing that which is most base within us He shows how through the ancient laws of proportion and number architecture once expressed the harmonious relationship between man and the cosmos In early times the architect worked within a sacred and esoteric tradition of creating structures through which human beings could gain insight into the nature of the divine reality Today that tradition has been abandoned in favor of narrowly defined utilitarian principles of efficiency and economy In The Return of Sacred Architecture Bangs provides the key to freeing architecture from the crude functionality of the twentieth century the architects of the modern human landscape must find the deep felt connection to the cosmos that guided the inner lives of those who built the temples of the past The form of their buildings will then reflect the sacred patterns of geometry and proportion and bring forth greater harmony in the world

Modernism and American Mid-20th Century Sacred Architecture Anat Geva, 2018-10-08 Mid 20th century sacred architecture in America sought to bridge modernism with religion by abstracting cultural and faith traditions and pushing the envelope in the design of houses of worship Modern architects embraced the challenges of creating sacred spaces that incorporated liturgical changes evolving congregations modern architecture and innovations in building technology The book describes the unique context and design aspects of the departure from historicism and the renewal of heritage and traditions with groundbreaking structural features deliberate optical effects and modern aesthetics The contributions from a pre eminent group of scholars and practitioners from the US Australia and Europe are based on original archival research historical documents and field visits to the buildings discussed Investigating how the authority of the divine was communicated through new forms of architectural design these examinations map the materiality of liturgical change and communal worship during the mid
