Female Masochism in Film Ruth McPhee, 2016-04-15 Theoretically and representationally responses to heterosexual female masochism have ranged from neglect in theories that focus predominantly or only upon masochistic sexuality within male subjects to condemnation from feminists who regard it as an inverted expression of patriarchal control rather than a legitimate form of female desire It has commonly been understood as a passive form of sexuality thus ignoring the potential for activity and agency that the masochistic position may involve which underpins the crucial argument that female masochism can be conceived as enquiring ethical activity Taking as its subject the works of Jane Campion Catherine Breillat Michael Haneke and Lars von Trier as well as the films Secretary Steven Shainberg Dans Ma Peau Marina de Van Red Road Andrea Arnold 2006 Amer H l ne Cattat and Bruno Forzani and Sleeping Beauty Julia Leigh Female Masochism in Film avoids these reductive and simplistic approaches by focusing on the ambivalences and intricacies of this type of sexuality and subjectivity Using the philosophical writings of Kristeva Irigaray Lacan Scarry and Bataille McPhee argues that masochism cannot and should not be considered aside from its ethical and intersubjective implications and furthermore that the aesthetic tendencies emerging across these films obscenity extremity confrontation and a transgressive ambiguous form of beauty are strongly related to these implications Ultimately this complex and novel work calls upon the spectator and the theorist to reconsider normative ideas about desire corporeality fantasy and suffering

Bad Mouthing Jenny Corbett,2013-11-05 The power of language is overwhelming and this is shown in the way in which words are used to define portray and explain people and situations With this in mind then it is interesting to note how the language of special needs has always been composed of words and images which foster fear mistrust loathing and hostility idiot imbecile and moron are frequently used as terms of abuse Whilst there has been considerable theorizing on the psychological and sociological aspects of special education as well as a recognition of the influence of policies and politics there has not yet been a concerted attempt to analyze the way in which language is used to create codes and images This general lack of interest may be because semantics seem peripheral to special education the focus has rather been on individual case studies teaching programmes legislation and practice Jenny Corbett however has a particular interest in the language of special needs Over the past few years she has explored the ways in which new discourses have emerged to challenge those of enlightened modernity the political correctness of special needs language in the mid 1990s and the ways in which imagery is changing as proud labels displace the legacy of negativity In this book the author brings together the findings of these explorations as she looks at where the language of special needs has emerged from where it seems to be going at present and what is likely to become of it in the near future In order to more fully understand why some learners are marginalised and given an inferior status says Jenny Corbett it is important to explore the way in which language has been used      Bad Girls, Dirty Bodies Gemma Commane, 2020-10-15 What makes a woman bad is commonly linked to certain qualities or behaviours seen as morally or socially corrosive dirty and disgusting In Bad Girls Dirty Bodies Gemma Commane critically explores the social sexual and political significance of women who are labelled bad sluts or dirty Through a variety of case studies drawn from qualitative and original ethnographic research she argues that Bad Girls disrupt heterosexual normativity and contribute new embodied knowledge From neo burlesque sex positive and queer performance art to explicit entertainment and areas of popular culture Commane situates bad women as sites of power possibility and success Through the combination of case studies Ms T Empress Stah and RubberDoll Mouse and Doris La Trine Gemma Commane offers a challenge to those who think that sexual slutty bad and dirty women are not worth listening to Significantly she unpicks the issues generated by women who are complicit in the subjugation policing and marginalization of other women both in popular culture and in sites of subcultural resistance
