Between the Lines Kenneth Brophy, 2015-10-05 Reading Between the Lines The Neolithic Cursus Monuments of Scotland is the first systematic analysis of Scotland's cursus monuments and is written by one of the foremost scholars of the Neolithic in Scotland Drawing on fifteen years of experience of cropmark interpretation as well as his involvement in several excavations of cursus monuments and contemporary sites Kenneth Brophy uncovers some of the secrets of the Neolithic landscape While outlining the physical characteristics of the cursus this book also addresses the limitations of this kind of typological description when applied to monuments which varied so remarkably in terms of materiality and size Moving beyond a morphological account Brophy considers what can be said of this diverse group of sites and how they were actually built and used in prehistory in light of several decades of aerial reconnaissance and excavation in Scotland Through a close study of the differences as well as the similarities between these structures this book offers a nuanced account of cursus monuments finally allowing this important monument type to be better understood and placed alongside others of the period Offering exciting new ways of thinking about these enigmatic yet important monuments Reading Between the Lines The Neolithic Cursus Monuments of Scotland is an essential resource for students and specialists in British prehistory providing an introduction to the Early Neolithic archaeology of lowland Scotland as well as a meditation on broader aspects of monumentality and architecture

Hall,2000-08-31 There has been little research on tourism in those European countries or regions which lie outside the continent's main centres of production and population even though tourism may be one of the few economic options open to them This volume aims to fill a gap by presenting a range of case studies including northern Sweden the Orkneys the tip of Norway and northern Cyprus on tourism in the peripheral areas of Europe Taking as a leitmotiv the paradoxes inherent in developing places whose very attraction may lie in their lack of development the case studies investigate and illustrate both the opportunities and the threats that tourism presents to peripheral areas Although they share certain similarities the cases also demonstrate differing approaches to tourism development and varying outcomes over time They suggest solutions for dealing with for example community participation as well as providing practical insights into visitor perceptions of peripheral areas and into ways of marketing such areas in a sensitive manner Together they provide a picture of the needs of peripheral areas and of how far and how best tourism can fulfil those needs
