Lean Business Systems and Beyond Tomasz Koch, 2008-01-28 Lean Manufacturing has proved to be one of the most successful and most powerful production business systems over the last decades Its application enabled many companies to make a big leap towards better utilization of resources and thus provide better service to the customers through faster response higher quality and lowered costs Lean is often described as eyes for flow and eyes for muda philosophy It simply means that value is created only when all the resources flow through the system If the flow is stopped no value but only costs and time are added which is muda Jap waste Since the philosophy was born at the Toyota many solutions were tailored for the high volume environment But in turbulent fast changing market environment and progressing globalization customers tend to require more customization lower volumes and higher variety at much less cost and of better quality This calls for adaptation of existing lean techniques and exploration of the new waste free solutions that go far beyond manufacturing This book brings together the opinions of a number of leading academics and researchers from around the world responding to those emerging needs They tried to find answer to the question how to move forward from Spaghetti World of supply production distribution sales administration product development logistics accounting etc Through individual chapters in this book authors present their views approaches concepts and developed tools The reader will learn the key issues currently being addressed in production management research and practice throughout the world

The Service-Dominant Logic of Marketing Robert F. Lusch, Stephen L. Vargo, 2014-12-18 Expanding on the editors award winning article Evolving to a New Dominant Logic for Marketing this book presents a challenging new paradigm for the marketing discipline This new paradigm is service oriented customer oriented relationship focused and knowledge based and places marketing once viewed as a support function central to overall business strategy Service dominant logic defines service as the application of competencies for the benefit of another entity and sees mutual service provision rather than the exchange of goods as the proper subject of marketing It moves the orientation of marketing from a market to philosophy where customers are promoted to targeted and captured to a market with philosophy where the customer and supply chain partners are collaborators in the entire marketing process The editors elaborate on this model through an historical analysis clarification and extension of service dominant logic and distinguished marketing thinkers then provide further insight and commentary The result is a more comprehensive and inclusive marketing theory that will challenge both current thinking and marketing practice

The Palgrave Handbook of Service Management Bo Edvardsson, Bård Tronvoll, 2022-05-24 This handbook provides an innovative thorough overview of service management It draws together an impressive international group of leading scholars who offer a truly global perspective exploring current literature and laying out guidance for future research Beginning with defining service as a perspective on value creation and service management as a set of organizational competencies for enabling and realizing value creation through service it then moves on to follow the evolution of service research From there the book is structured into six main themes perspectives on service management service strategy service leadership and transition service design and innovation service interaction quality and operations and service management and technology This book is valuable reading for academics lecturers and students studying service management operations management and service research

The Heart and Wallet Paradox of Collaborative Consumption Hugo Guyader, 2019-03-07 Collaborative consumption is a peer to peer P2P exchange of goods and services facilitated by online platforms This phenomenon is driven by technologies that make it easier and cheaper to redistribute and share the use of existing but underutilized private resources It is embedded in the paradigm shift in society towards access based consumption in opposition to acquisition and private individual ownership Firms take on the new role of enabler of collaborative consumption by developing online platforms and smartphone apps that facilitate P2P exchanges between people in their roles of peer providers and consumers Collaborative consumption is anchored to two opposite logics of consumption sharing and market exchange This results in the Heart Wallet paradox with its tensions between a pro social orientation and communal norms on the one hand and a for profit orientation and market norms on the other hand While diverse societal and regulatory aspects of the so called sharing economy are discussed in popular debate scholars have yet to catch up on the theoretical implications from these influences on business activities and consumer behavior This thesis aims to improve the understanding of collaborative consumption by contributing to the conceptualization of this new phenomenon as intertwined with coexisting sharing and market logics The research is based on two papers taking the perspective of the firms operating online platforms that facilitate collaborative consumption and two papers taking the perspective of the peer providers and consumers participating in P2P exchanges The context of shared mobility i e P2P car rental ridesharing is explored through three cases using interviews with online platform managers and participants in collaborative consumption participant observation a netnography a cross sectional survey of platform users and document analyses This thesis situates collaborative consumption in the access paradigm based on the temporal redistribution and monetization of private resources facilitated via online platforms while nurturing the feelings of communal belonging and the sharing ethos embedded in P2P exchanges Investigating the tensions of the Heart Wallet paradox of collaborative consumption I highlight the opposing rationales between the sharing logic of the original nonmonetary practices initiated by grassroots communities and the market logic of platform business models I further emphasize the key function of communal identification for participants and the role of perceived sharing authenticity the pitfalls of sharewashing for firms This thesis contributes to service research by advancing the understanding of P2P exchanges and the conceptualization of collaborative consumption Kollaborativ konsumtion bygger p P2P utbyte peer to peer av varor och tj nster genom online plattformar Detta fenomen drivs p av teknologi som g r det enklare och billigare att dela anv ndningen av befintliga men underutnyttjade privata resurser Det r inb ddat i paradigmskiftet i samh llet mot tillg ngsbaserad konsumtion i motsats till privat gande F retag f r en ny roll som underl ttare av kollaborativ konsumtion d r privatpersoner ist llet intar rollerna som b de leverant rer och konsumenter Kollaborativ konsumtion r f rankrat i tv motsatta logiker delning och varuutbyte Detta resulterar i Heart Wallet paradoxen med sp nningar emellan en pro social orientering som bygger p gemensamma normer och en vinstdrivande orientering baserad p marknadsnormer Medan det funnits en debatt kring den s kallade delningsekonomin och dess samh lleliga och legala implikationer s har den akademiska debatten nnu ej hunnit ta fart kring dess p verkan p aff rsverksamhet och konsumentbeteende Avhandlingen syftar till att f rb ttra f rst elsen av kollaborativ konsumtion genom att bidra till konceptualiseringen av detta fenomen d r delningslogik och marknadslogik samexisterar Avhandlingen r baserad p tv artiklar som unders ker kollaborativ konsumtion fr n ett f retagsperspektiv och tv artiklar d r begreppet studeras ur de deltagande individernas perspektiv Kontexten shared mobility d v s privat biluthyrning sam kning unders ks i tre organisationer med hj lp av intervjuer med anst llda p onlineplattformar och deltagare i kollaborativ konsumtion deltagarobservationer en n tnografi en tv rsnittsunders kning av plattformsanv ndare och dokumentanalyser Avhandlingen placerar kollaborativ konsumtion i paradigmet kring studier av tillg ng till tj nster d r den tempor ra omf rdelningen i tid och monetariseringen av privata resurser underl ttas via online plattformar samtidigt som den gemensamma tillh righeten och det delningsetos som finns inb ddat i P2P utbyten uppmuntras Genom att unders ka sp nningarna i Heart Wallet paradoxen i kollaborativ konsumtion belyser jag mots ttningarna mellan delningslogiken fr n gr srotsr relsen och marknadslogiken i plattformsaff rsmodellerna Vidare diskuterar jag den centrala rollen av communal identification upplevelsen av autencitet vid delning av resurser f r kollaborativ konsumtion Avhandlingen bidrar till tj nsteforskningen kring tillg ng till tj nster genom en kad f rst else av P2P utbyten och en konceptualisering av kollaborativ konsumtion
