Written by an author who is internationally recognized as one of the world's leading theologians. Draws on the work of some prominent contemporary philosophers and theologians to clarify the nature of faith. Unique in its appreciation of the ambiguity of religion in its representations of the highest human achievements as well as the very worst of human actions using a balanced and engaged approach to discuss contentious theological and intellectual issues. Ordination: Celebrating the Gift of Min, Theology and the Arts Ruth Illman, W. Alan Smith, 2013-06-07 This book brings the emerging fields of practical theology and theology of the arts into a dialogue beyond the bias of modern systematic and constructive theology. The authors draw upon postmodern post secular feminist liberation and dialogical dialectical philosophy and theology and their critiques of the narrow modern emphases on reason and the scientific method as the model for all knowledge. Such a practical theology of the arts focuses the work of theology on the actual practices that engage the arts in their various forms as the means of interpreting and understanding the nature of the communities and their members as well as the mechanisms through which these communities engage in transformative work to make persons and neighborhoods whole. This book presents its theological claims through the careful analysis of several stories of communities around the world that have engaged in transformational practices through a specific art form investigating communities from Europe the Middle East South America and the U S. The case studies explored include Jewish Christian Muslim Druze indigenous and sometimes agnostic subjects involved in visual art music dance theatre documentary film and literature. Theology and the Arts demonstrates that the challenges of a postmodern and post secular context require a fundamental rethinking of theology that focuses on discrete practices of faithful communities rather than one dimensional theories about religion. The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theology Mary McClintock Fulkerson, Sheila Briggs, 2012 This volume highlights the relevance of globalization and the insights of gender studies and religious studies for feminist theology. It focuses on the changing global contexts for the field and its movement towards new models of theology distinct from the forms of traditional Christian systematic theology and of secular feminism. Creating Women's Theology Monica A. Coleman, Nancy R. Howell, Helene Tallon Russell, 2011-09-22 Creating Women's Theology engages women's questions. Can women from different religious traditions engage one theological approach? Can one philosophical approach support feminist religious thought? What kind of belief follows women's criticism of traditional Christianity? Creating Women's Theology offers a portrait of how some women have found room for faith and feminism. For the last twenty five years women religion scholars have synthesized process philosophy with their feminist sensibilities and faith commitments to highlight the value of experience the importance of freedom and the interdependence of humanity God and all creation. Cutting across cultural and religious traditions process relational feminist thought represents a theology that women have created This volume offers an introduction to process and feminist theologies before presenting selections from canonical works in the field with study questions This volume includes voices from Christianity Judaism goddess religion the Black church and indigenous religions Creating Women's Theology invites new generations of undergraduate seminary and university graduate students to the methods and insights of process relational feminist theology

Reflections on My Call to Preach Fred B. Craddock, 2009 Travel with revered preacher and author Fred Craddock through his early years as he considers what made him take to the pulpit For some reason I felt I had to say Yes or No to the ministry so I could feel free again My siblings and friends talked almost casually about options and preferences as to careers but with no evident sense of urgency Not so with me I did not then nor do I now know whether the burden of choice was a trait of personality a kind of super conscientiousness whether the calling to ministry itself carried a weight a burden peculiar to the task itself Rightly or wrongly when I thought of possibly becoming a journalist that would be a choice 100 percent mine When I considered becoming a minister that was not totally my decision I was responding to God's will for me Of course I had been told that journalists lawyers teachers merchants farmers all could understand their lives as a vocation a calling but what I am telling you is that I perceived I felt I experienced the idea of being a preacher as different and that difference was sobering even burdensome That's why advice about not being in a hurry taking my time was not helpful even if wise If it was my decision why could I not make it now if it was God's decision why did not God tell me or at least tell my father or my mother I prayed for the ache to leave me Excerpt from Reflections on My Call to Preach

The Pentecostal Gender Paradox Joseph Lee Dutko, 2023-11-16 The distinct subjects of eschatology and gender equality have seen an explosion of interest in recent decades particularly within Pentecostal scholarship Pentecostalism is regarded ideally as both an eschatological and egalitarian movement However many Pentecostals have lamented the inconsistency between the early egalitarian impulse of the movement and its current restrictive practices This situation has been described as the so called Pentecostal gender paradox referring to the conflicting freedoms and limitations experienced by Pentecostal women Pentecostals have also recognized the waning eschatological fervor within the movement and its shifting eschatological convictions leading to calls to rediscover the eschatological heart of the movement Despite the renewed interest in both eschatology and women's equality little research has been done to put these two areas into conversation with each other eschatological convictions are often absent in the debate on gender roles in the church For Pentecostals eschatology has often been about urgency in saving souls rather than attending to social issues but could Pentecostal eschatology be the key to re-discovering greater equality for women in the church Is the waning of both eschatology and women's equality within Pentecostalism potentially interrelated For over one hundred years the role of women in Pentecostalism has been debated without a firm consensus By examining gender solely through an eschatological lens in history Scripture and praxis this work provides a valuable and creative contribution to one of the most important theological and global issues of our time women's in equality This book is also one of the first comprehensive studies to approach a single social issue solely through an eschatological lens and to provide attention to developing a thorough and methodologically connected eschatological praxis By uncovering the unified eschatological egalitarian narrative thread within both the Pentecostal and biblical story this work suggests that the present end of women's inequality begins with fidelity to the future eschaton of gender equality
