The Language of Sex John W. Baldwin, 2015-02-21 This study brings together widely divergent discourses to fashion a comprehensive picture of sexual language and attitudes at a particular time and place in the medieval world John Baldwin introduces five representative voices from the turn of the twelfth century in northern France Pierre the Chanter speaks for the theological doctrine of Augustine the Prose Salernitan Questions for the medical theories of Galen Andre the Chaplain for the Ovidian literature of the schools Jean Renart for the contemporary romances and Jean Bodel for the emerging voices of the fabliaux Baldwin juxtaposes their views on a range of essential subjects including social position the sexual body desire and act and procreation The result is a fascinating dialogue of how they agreed or disagreed with ignored imitated or responded to each other at a critical moment in the development of European ideas about sexual desire fulfillment morality and gender These spokesmen allow us into the discussion of sexuality inside the church and schools of the clergy in high and popular culture of the laity This heterogeneous discussion also offers a startling glimpse into the construction of gender specific to this moment when men and women enjoyed equal status in sexual matters if nowhere else Taken together these voices extend their reach encompass their subject and point to a center where social reality lies By articulating reality at its varied depths this study takes its place alongside groundbreaking works by James Brundage John Boswell and Leah Otis in extending our understanding of sexuality and sexual behavior in the Middle Ages Superb work These five kinds of discourse are not often treated together in scholarly writing let alone compared and contrasted so well Edward Collins Vacek Theological Studies Baldwin has made the five voices speak to us in a language that is at one and the same time familiar and alien in its resonance and accents This is a truly exceptional book interdisciplinary in the real sense of the word which is surely destined to become a landmark in medieval studies Keith Busby Bryn Mawr Reviews Baldwin s attempt to listen to these distant voices and translate their language of sex into our own raises challenging methodological questions that will be of great interest to historians and literary scholars alike John P Dalton Comitatus

Ayrshire Digest ,1927 Sex Crime in the News Keith Soothill, Sylvia Walby, 2023-03-31 First published in 1991 Sex

Crime in the News is a unique examination of the nature of sex crime reporting in the press. Analysing examples from forty years of newspaper coverage, the authors provide a systematic study of this controversial topic. The book reveals the misleading and trivializing nature of sex crime coverage with serious research reports on rape and discussions on law reform being given short shrift. The authors examine the increasing gap between the reality of sexual abuse and the coverage it receives in the press and they set their detailed empirical work within a context of broader concerns about the relationship between the media, the individual and the state. Critical though it is of the press, this book will be of special interest to people working in the media and to legislators involved in debates about the press. It will also be of value to students on course in women's studies, cultural and media studies and deviancy.

Catherine Donovan and Marianne Hester examine how experiences of domestic violence and abuse are shaped by gender, sexuality and age, seeking to understand what factors drive victims to seek or not seek help. Employing a methodology that includes both quantitative and qualitative research, they provide a new framework of analysis, what they call practices of love, that challenges heteronormative models of engaging domestic violence in research, policy and practice.
