No Free Lunch Food Revolution In Cuba Today:

No Free Lunch Medea Benjamin, Joseph Collins, Michael Scott, 1984 Study of food security food policies and agricultural policies in Cuba since the 1960s discusses agricultural markets incl The black market food shortages and food rationing examines food consumption diet nutrition and malnutrition looks at the importance of the sugar industry monoculture and efforts to diversify food crops and increase food production covers agrarian reform and the role of state farms agricultural cooperatives and peasant farmers in the private sector Bibliography chronology glossary photographs World Hunger Joseph Collins, 2014-02-04 The revised edition of this text includes substantial new material on hunger in the aftermath of the Cold War global food production versus population growth changing demographics and falling birth rates around the world the shifting focus of foreign assistance in the new world order structural adjustment and other budget slashing policies trade liberalization and free trade agreements famine and humanitarian interventions and the third worldization of developed nations The Cuba Reader Aviva Chomsky, Barry Carr, Alfredo Prieto, Pamela Maria Smorkaloff, 2019-05-17 Tracking Cuban history from 1492 to the present The Cuba Reader includes more than one hundred selections that present myriad perspectives on Cuba's history culture and politics The volume foregrounds the experience of Cubans from all walks of life including slaves prostitutes doctors activists and historians Combining songs poetry fiction journalism political speeches and many other types of documents this revised and updated second edition of The Cuba Reader contains over twenty new selections that explore the changes and continuities in Cuba since Fidel Castro stepped down from power in 2006 For students travelers and all those who want to know more about the island nation just ninety miles south of Florida The Cuba Reader is an invaluable introduction From Confrontation to Negotiation Philip Brenner, 2019-04-09 Nearly thirty years have passed since the United States first attempted to overthrow the fledgling Castro government Despite enormous changes in the hemisphere significant developments in the nature of Cuba's international relations and an end to the cold war consensus in the United States that quietly sanctioned interference in and obstruction of Third World politics U S policy toward Cuba has changed very little It still embodies the failed dream of isolating Cuba and destroying the Cuban revolution In From Confrontation to Negotiation U S Relations with Cuba Philip Brenner provides a thoughtful overview of U S Cuban relations since 1898 with an emphasis on the past ten years Assumptions goals and continuities in U S policy are highlighted He then offers a clear picture of the issues that divide the two countries and around which any discussions for a normalization of relations would likely turn Could discussions occur Is a call for a less hostile relationship between the United States and Cuba politically feasible What are the chances that Cuba and the United States can actually work out an accommodation Dr Brenner analyzes the domestic political factors in each country that shape policy and that might present possibilities for serious discussion He then proposes a workable alternative Cuban policy for the United States that takes into account the fundamental concerns of both countries The policy proposal is related to the framework adopted by Policy

Alternatives for the Caribbean and Central America PACCA Rice and Beans Richard Wilk, Livia Barbosa, 2013-05-09 Rice and Beans is a book about the paradox of local and global. On the one hand this is a globe spanning dish a simple source of complete nutrition for billions of people in hundreds of countries. On the other hand in every place people insist that rice and beans is a local invention deeply rooted in a particular history and culture. How can something so universal also be so particular? The authors of this book explore the specific history of the versions of rice and beans beloved and indigenous in cultures from Brazil to West Africa. But they also plumb the shared African Native American and European trans Atlantic encounters and exchanges and the contemporary forces of globalization and nation building which combine to make rice and beans a powerful substance and symbol of the relationship between food and culture Marxism, Morality, and Social Justice Rodney G. Peffer, 2014-07-14 The interpreter of Marx's writings faces the task of reconciling on the one hand Marx's frequent explicit condemnations and criticisms of morality and on the other the obvious way in which his world view reflects substantive moral judgments. In this book R. G. Peffer tackles the challenges of finding in Marx's work an implicit moral theory of answering claims that Marxism is incompatible with morality and of developing the outlines of an adequate Marxist moral and social theory. Peffer analyzes the moral components of Marx's thought and considers all the major interpretations of his moral perspective. He concludes that Marx is a mixed deontologist who is most committed to a maximum system of equal freedoms both positive and negative. He then utilizes contemporary metaethical theory to show that Marxism is compatible with morality in general and with the concepts of justice and rights in particular. Peffer proposes a radically egalitarian theory of social justice which subsumes Marx's own moral theory and a minimal set of Marxist empirical theses which together entail the Marxist's basic normative political positions. This book demonstrates that contemporary analytic political philosophy is invaluable for coming to terms with Marxism and that it is only Marx's less abstract empirical theories about classes and class struggle, the dysfunctions of capitalism and the possibility of creating democratic self managing postcapitalist societies that are needed for the development of an adequate Marxist moral and social theory. Warnock, 2019-07-19 Originally published in 1987 This important and provocative book explains the persistence of hunger poverty and the lack of balanced development in many countries and the central role of agriculture in economic development Most theories of agricultural development are based on the experiences of western Europe and the United States while the two models for successful late development have been Japan and the Soviet Union This book surveys the evolution of agriculture under colonialism in Latin America Africa and Asia and concludes that this long period distorted the development prospects for these areas and retarded the production of food Under strong state capitalist governments a few underdeveloped countries have broken the colonial patterns of development However other post revolutionary societies are having far less success because of economic blockades and outside military intervention While the primary focus of the book is on the short run problems of inequality the author examines the long run ecological and resource constraints to a sustainable food system and raising the standard of living in the underdeveloped world Cuba, a Different America Wilber A. Rice in the Time of Sugar Louis A. Pérez Jr., 2019-03-28 How did Cuba's long established sugar trade result in the development of an agriculture that benefited consumers abroad at the dire expense of Cubans at home In this history of Cuba Louis A. Pérez proposes a new Cuban counterpoint rice a staple central to the island's cuisine and sugar which dominated an export economy 150 years in the making In the dynamic between the two dependency on food imports a signal feature of the Cuban economy was set in place Cuban efforts to diversify the economy through expanded rice production were met with keen resistance by U.S. rice producers who were as reliant on the Cuban market as sugar growers were on the U.S. market U.S. growers prepared to retaliate by cutting the sugar quota in a struggle to control Cuban rice markets Pérez's chronicle culminates in the 1950s a period of deepening revolutionary tensions on the island as U.S. rice producers and their allies in Congress clashed with Cuban producers supported by the government of Fulgencio Batista U.S. interests prevailed a success Pérez argues that contributed to undermining Batista's capacity to govern Cuba's inability to develop self sufficiency in rice production persists long after the triumph of the Cuban revolution Cuba continues to import rice but in the face of the U.S. embargo mainly from Asia U.S. rice growers wait impatiently to recover the Cuban market

Caring for Them from Birth to Death Christina Perez, 2008-01-01 Through qualitative interviews and participant observation with Cuban primary care neighborhood doctors and nurses this book brings the reader into everyday life in Havana The first book to examine Cuba's health care system and the health of the Cuban population since the Special Period it explains how Cuba manages to improve its health indices year after year an extraordinary achievement considering the economic inequalities that exist in Cuba today

Cuban Political Economy Andrew Zimbalist, 2019-04-11 This comprehensive and authoritative book assesses in theoretical and empirical terms some of the most widely debated issues in the study of Cuban political economy It presents a broad critique of the mainstream scholarship in the United States on Cuban political economy

Many Shades of Red Mieke Meurs, 1999-02-18 This volume provides a radical and timely corrective to received wisdom about the seemingly inevitable transition from communism to democratic capitalism Arguing against popular misconceptions that portray collectivized agriculture as an unqualified failure that followed a monolithic Soviet model the contributors draw upon newly available local sources to illuminate the costs benefits successes and failures of cooperative agriculture They highlight the wide variety of state policies local responses and economic outcomes as well as the influence of local geography political structures and economic institutions in each region Meurs provides an institutionalist analysis of both the causes and impacts of policy differences drawing lessons of continuing relevance to the many countries in which agrarian reform remains a controversial issue

Meurs and Niurka Perez La Lucha for Cuba Miguel A. De La Torre, 2003-10-10 For many in Miami's Cuban exile community hating Fidel Castro is as natural as loving one's children This hatred Miguel De La Torre suggests has in fact taken on religious significance In La Lucha for Cuba De La Torre shows how Exilic Cubans a once marginalized group have risen to power and privilege distinguishing themselves from other Hispanic communities in the United States and how religion has figured in their ascension Through the lens of religion and culture his work also unmasks and explores intra Hispanic structures of oppression operating among Cubans in Miami Miami Cubans use a religious expression la lucha or the struggle to justify the power and privilege they have achieved Within the context of la lucha De La Torre explores the religious dichotomy created between the children of light Exilic Cubans and the children of darkness Resident Cubans Examining the recent saga of the Eli n Gonz lez custody battle he shows how the cultural construction of la lucha has become a distinctly Miami style spirituality that makes el exilio exile the basis for religious reflection understanding and practice and that conflates political mobilization with spiritual meaning in an ongoing confrontation with evil World Swordfish Fisheries United States.
