Sacramento's Oak Park Lee M. A. Simpson, 2004 The history of American cities is a history of suburbs It is a history of moving out and settling in of technological innovation of rearrangements of space and the creation and erosion of community Oak Park was Sacramento's first suburb and before being officially annexed to the city in 1911 it prided itself on having separate law enforcement its own newspaper and perhaps most importantly its own amusement park Joyland Unlike the more elite neighborhoods of Land Park and East Sacramento Oak Park has always reflected working class values and a less pretentious approach to architecture Today Oak Park is actively rediscovering and reestablishing its roots as a distinct vital community and urban center Images of America Evan P. vintage postcards presents here California's capital city as it used to be complete with railroads farming a busy downtown government buildings riverboats public bars the early Yolo Causeway and even an ostrich farm or two Myers culled these views from his extensive collection of postcards and modern images many of which appear in current postcards of Northern California

Sacramento's Capitol Park John E. Allen, 2013-02-18

Sacramento's Curtis Park Dan Murphy, 2005-10 This peaceful community loved by thousands of locals was once in part a Mexican land grant called New Helvetia given to John Sutter With the 1852 arrival of homesteader and area namesake William Curtis who managed a 200 acre farm started by his brother and those drawn by the California gold rush the area began to develop and expand In 1887 papers were filed for the Highland Park subdivision a nod to early flood concerns Since that time more than 30 other subdivisions have sprung up between Broadway and Sutterville along with the Sierra School which has been nominated for city landmark status Situated south of today's Broadway the area that was once a flood plain and then an agricultural area now holds over 2 500 homes and is among the city's most vibrant neighborhoods Houses here represent various architectural styles from Victorian to Arts and Crafts and the various 1920s revivals The neighborhood has an equally interesting mix of residents

Sacramento's Southside Park William Burg, 2007-09-26 Sacramentos Southside Park neighborhood sits south of Californias state capitol and north of the Old City Cemetery Built on a former slough it was inhabited by generations of immigrants and working class families The neighborhoods many ethnic communities including Portuguese Italian Mexican and Japanese came together in Southside Park the neighborhoods namesake Whether for fireworks displays on the Fourth of July for a trip back to Gold Rush days at Roaring Camp or simply to paddle the lake in a rented boat Southside Park provided a place of respite and recreation in this bustling city The neighborhood surrounding the park faced many challenges as Sacramento grew including freeway construction urban renewal and redevelopment and problems with crime but its residents faced these challenges with a tradition of political activism community participation and a strong sense of civic pride that is still evident today

Sacramento's Land Park Jocelyn Munroe Isidro, 2005-05-01 Sacramento wasn't always so proud of the area now called Land Park In fact due to a notorious roadhouse at Sutterville and Riverside roads the city took great pains to distance itself from here in the early days calling the roadhouse and environs a foul plague spot and a sink of iniquity and purposely excluding it from city borders But times change and the 1911 death of hotelier and philanthropist William Land set the stage for Land Park's remarkable renaissance A bequest in Land's will directed that some monies be used to find a recreation spot for the children and a pleasure ground for the poor and so began the pleasant area of homes parklands and riverfront paths we know today
