Science Education Linda M. Phillips, Stephen P. Norris, John S. Macnab, 2010-09-02 Science education at school level worldwide faces three perennial problems that have become more pressing of late These are to a considerable extent interwoven with concerns about the entire school curriculum and its reception by students The first problem is the increasing intellectual isolation of science from the other subjects in the school curriculum Science is too often still taught didactically as a collection of pre determined truths about which there can be no dispute As a consequence many students do not feel any ownership of these ideas Most other school subjects do somewhat better in these regards For example in language classes students suggest different interpretations of a text and then debate the relative merits of the cases being put forward Moreover ideas that are of use in science are presented to students elsewhere and then re taught often using different terminology in science For example algebra is taught in terms of $x y z$ in mathematics classes but students are later unable to see the relevance of that to the meaning of the universal gas laws in physics where $p v t$ are used The result is that students are confused and too often alienated leading to their failure to achieve that extraction of an education from a scheme of instruction which Jerome Bruner thought so highly desirable Adventuring with Books Amy A. McClure, Janice V. Kristo, National Council of Teachers of English. Committee to Revise the Elementary School Booklist, 2002 In this 13th edition of Adventuring with Books teachers and librarians will find descriptions of more than 850 texts published between 1999 and 2001 suitable for student use in background research unit study or pleasure reading and children will find books that delight amuse and entertain The texts described in the book are divided into 24 general topics including Science Nonfiction Struggle and Survival Fantasy Literature Sports Games and Hobbies and Mathematics in Our World To highlight literature that reflects the schools multiple ethnicities the booklist also introduces readers to recent literature that celebrates African American Asian and Pacific Island Hispanic American and indigenous cultures Each chapter begins with a brief list of selection criteria a streamlined list of all annotated titles in that chapter and an introduction in which chapter editors discuss their criteria and the status of available books in that subject area While the reviews were written by adults the voices and opinions of children are often included as well lending credence to adult choices of the quality children's books NKA Robots Among Us Christopher W. Baker, 2002 Describes the development of various types of robots the challenges inherent in making them more and more complex and uses of robots now and in the future Serious Educational Games, 2008-01-01 Serious

Educational Games From Theory to Practice focuses on experiences and lessons learned through the design creation and research in the Serious Education Games Movement Serious Games is a term coined for the movement that started in 2003 for using commercial video game technology for teaching and learning purposes This book presents a collection of work that bridges the theory behind Serious Educational games and cutting edge research coming from many aspects in the field The authors all have experienced Serious Games in education in their research and or through personal game play While the literature base for educational games is growing at alarming rates a theoretical framework by which future research will be conducted and practical examples of established work and work that continues to is the crux of this volume This book is not all encompassing of the work being done with educational games but rather it provides lessons from the field in tangible projects This book takes the reader through why Serious Games need to be used in K 12 education the theory underlying why games work for teaching and learning and how Serious Games are being used and researched Home and School
