Queer Constellations Dianne Chisholm, Queer Constellations investigates the dreams and catastrophes of recent urban history viewed through new queer narratives of inner city life The gay village gay mecca gai Paris the lesbian flaneur the lesbian bohème these and other urban phantasmagoria feature paradoxically in this volume as figures of revolutionary utopia and commodity spectacle as fossilized archetypes of social transformation and ruins of haunting cultural potential Dianne Chisholm introduces readers to new practices of walking seeing citing and remembering the city in works by Neil Bartlett Samuel Delany Robert Gluck Alan Hollinghurst Gary Indiana Eileen Myles Sarah Schulman Edmund White and David Wojnarowicz Reading these authors with reference to the history sociology geography and philosophy of space particularly to the everyday avant garde production and practice of urban space Chisholm reveals how and how effectively queer narrative documentary resembles and reassembles Walter Benjamin's constellations of Paris capital of the nineteenth century Considering experimental queer writing in critical conjunction with Benjamin's city writing the book shows how a queer perspective on inner city reality exposes contradictions otherwise obscured by mythic narratives of progress If Benjamin regards the Paris arcade as a microcosm of high capitalism wherein the unmaking of industrial society is perceived retrospectively in contemporary queer narrative we see the sexually charged and commodity entranced space of the gay

bathhouse as a microcosm of late capitalism and as an exemplary site for excavating the contradictions of mass sex In Chisholm's book we discover how looking back on the ruins of queer mecca queer authors return to Benjamin to advance his dialectics of seeing how they cruise the paradoxes of market capital blasting a queer era out of the homogeneous course of history

The Wedding Report Hans-Jürg Suter, 1993-01-01 Traditional text types or genres are complex linguistic sociocultural and cognitive phenomena that can only be analysed in flexible interdisciplinary frameworks fusing structural and process oriented approaches and combining quantitative description with qualitative interpretation and evaluation The theoretical and methodological implications of the prototypical text type concept which is developed in this book are explored in an exhaustive case study of a representative ie prototypical genre the wedding report a conventional type of news report published in local English newspapers The distinctive contextual and textual features situational context text production processes function thematic structure and form on the macro and microlevel are analysed synchronically and diachronically The linguistic findings are integrated into a comprehensive view of the interplay between the genre as a linguistic frame and its sociocultural context The study puts special emphasis on addressing the methodological problems arising from the inherent fuzziness of traditional text types and can thus serve as a detailed working model of genre analysis designed to be adapted to the specific requirements of similar studies

Is Canada Postcolonial? Laura Moss, 2009-08-01 How can postcolonialism be applied to Canadian literature In all that has been written about postcolonialism surprisingly little has specifically addressed the position of Canada Canadian literature or Canadian culture Postcolonialism is a theory that has gained credence throughout the world it is be productive to ask if and how we as Canadians participate in postcolonial debates It is also vital to examine the ways in which Canada and Canadian culture fit into global discussions as our culture reflects how we interact with our neighbours allies and adversaries This collection wrestles with the problems of situating Canadian literature in the ongoing debates about culture identity and globalization and of applying the slippery term of postcolonialism to Canadian literature The topics range in focus from discussions of specific literary works to general theoretical contemplations The twenty three articles in this collection grapple with the recurrent issues of postcolonialism including hybridity collaboration marginality power resistance and historical revisionism from the vantage point of those working within Canada as writers and critics While some seek to confirm the legitimacy of including Canadian literature in the discussions of postcolonialism others challenge this very notion Bilingual Games D. Spare Parts Plus Two Gail Scott, 2002 A welfare cheque floats down the river a cowboy spreads the Word of the Lord and crotches tick like clocks the world of Spare Parts is unpredictable evocative and vividly distorted Its initial appearance in 1981 caused a stir at a time when linear narrative was the m o of feminist writing Gail Scott had the nerve to fracture and dislocate her stories and her language Spare Parts is as vital as it was twenty years ago Scott's densely textured tales about the world of growing up female in a small town where violence lurks just beneath the skin recreate the uncertainty of life. Their incantatory language and tough imagery are as relevant and crucial now as they were then. This edition adds two new pieces including Bottoms Up an essay on narrative which first appeared on the Narrativity website. Scott co-edits My Paris Gail Scott, 2003. A Canadian woman keeps an extraordinary journal of her time in a Parisian studio.

Communal Nude Robert Gluck, 2016-05-13. The collected essays of the cofounder of the New Narrative movement on theory, identity, poetry and muses from Kathy Acker to Georges Bataille. I read and wrote to invoke what seemed impossible relation itself in order to take part in a world that ceaselessly makes itself up to wake up to the world to recognize the world to be convinced that the world exists to take revenge on the world for not existing from Communal Nude. Since cofounding San Francisco's influential New Narrative circle in 1979, Robert Gluck has been one of America's finest prose stylists of innovative fiction bending narrative into the service of autobiography, politics and gay writing. This collection brings together for the first time Gluck's nonfiction, a revelatory body of work that anchors his writing practice. Gluck's essays explore the ways that storytelling and selfhood are mutually embedded cultural forms cohering a fractured social reality where generating narrative means generating identity means generating community. I'd laugh at make art from any version of self. Gluck writes, I write about these forms that are myself to dispense with them to demonstrate how they disintegrate before the world, the body. For any body or text to know itself it must first see how it sees the world and understand itself as writing. Gluck's essays affirm this radical narratorial precept in rich spirals of reading, self-reflection, anecdote, escapade and metatext. These texts span the author's career and his creative affinities from lost manifestos theorizing the poetics of New Narrative to encomia for literary and philosophic muses, Kathy Acker, the HOW ever poets, Frank O'Hara, Georges Bataille and others to narrative journalism, book reviews, criticism and public talks. Many of the texts are culled from obscure little magazines and ephemeral online sources others have never been published. As lucid as story, as lush as theory and as irresistible as gossip, Gluck's essays are the quintessence of New Narrative theory in practice.

Translating Montreal Sherry Simon, 2006-10-10. Translating Montreal follows the trajectories of adventurous cultural translators such as Malcolm Reid, F.R. Scott and A.M. Klein, pioneers of the 1950s and 1960s. Pierre Anctil, whose translations from Yiddish to French are emblematic of the dramatic reroutings now occurring across the Montreal landscape and contemporary writer-translators such as Gail Scott, Erin Mour, Jacques Brault, Michel Garneau, Nicole Brossard and Emile Ollivier. Simon argues that translation is a dynamic and subtle tool for analysing cultural contact. An original take on cultural relations in the city, Translating Montreal explores the emergence of the new Montrealer. No longer Franco-Québécois, Anglo-Québécois, immigrant or ethnic, the new Montrealer is a citizen of a mixed and cosmopolitan city.
