The Battle of Britain on the Big Screen Dilip Sarkar, 2023-03-23 During the Second World War the British movie industry produced a number of films concerning the war all of which were by necessity heavily myth laden and propagandised Foremost among these productions was The First of the Few which was the biggest grossing film of 1942 In the immediate post war period to start with there were no British aviation war films The first to be released was Angels One Five in 1952. It was well received, confirming that the Battle of Britain was a commercial commodity. Over the next few years many famous war heroes published their memoirs or had books written about them, including the legless Group Captain Douglas Bader whose story Reach for the Sky told by Paul Brickhill became a best seller in 1956. It was followed a year later by the film of the same name which starring Kenneth More dominated that year's box office. The early Battle of Britain films had tended to focus upon the story of individuals not the bigger picture. That changed with the release of the star-studded epic Battle of Britain in 1969. Using real aircraft the film produced in color and on a far larger scale than had been seen on film before was notable for its spectacular flying sequences. Between the release of Reach for the Sky and Battle of Britain however much had changed for modern Britain. For a variety of reasons many felt that the story of the nation's pivotal moment in the Second World War was something best buried and forgotten. Indeed the overall box office reaction to Battle of Britain reinforced this view, all of which might explain why it was the last big screen treatment of this topic for many years. It was during the Battle of Britain's seventieth anniversary year that the subject returned to the nation's screens when Matthew Wightman's docudrama First Light was first broadcast. Essentially a serialisation of Spitfire pilot Geoffrey Wellum's best-selling memoir of the same title, Wightman cleverly combined clips of Wellum as an old man talking about the past with his new drama footage. The series is in the opinion of the author the best portrayal of an individual's Battle of Britain experience to have been made. In this fascinating exploration of the Battle of Britain on the big screen, renowned historian and author Dilip Sarkar examines the popular memory and myths of each of these productions and delves into the arguments between historians and the filmmakers. Just how true to the events of the summer of 1940 are they and how much have they added to the historical record of The Finest Hour. Discourses of War and Peace Adam Hodges, 2013-06-18. Given the prevalence of war around the world it is vital to understand the way discourse contributes to the promotion and positioning of war as a natural or inevitable response to international problems. In addition it is equally necessary to examine the way discourse impacts projects of peace which seek to displace discourses of war with alternative visions of the world. This volume examines specific contexts around the world in which discourse operates in the service of war or to build alternative visions of peace. Contributors who have backgrounds in linguistics, anthropology, rhetoric and communication studies draw upon discourse analytic and ethnographic methods to examine the discourse used by politicians and social actors in societies across the globe including the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom, Morocco, Ireland, the Palestinian territories and Japan. The book is divided into four sections that foreground the political effects of discourse on issues of war and peace, including the way discourse is harnessed to justify war: part I negotiate military deployment, part II respond to armed conflict, part III and promote peace, part IV. Reporting Palestine-Israel in British Newspapers Nadia R. Sirhan, 2021-08-28. This book examines the portrayal of the Palestinian-Israeli conflict by looking at the language used in its reporting and how this can in turn influence public opinion. The book explores how language use helps frame an event to elicit a particular interpretation from the reader and how this can be manipulated to introduce bias Sirhan begins the book by examining the history of the conflict and the many persistent myths that surround it She analyses how five events in the conflict two in which the Palestinians are victims two in which the Israelis are victims and Operation Cast Lead are reported in five British newspapers The Daily Mail The Guardian The Independent The Daily Telegraph and The Times By looking at these events across a range of newspapers the book investigates differences in the way that the media report each side before exploring what factors motivate these differences including issues of bias censorship lobbying and propaganda
