Proust At The Movies Studies In European Cultural Transition:

Proust at the Movies Martine Beugnet, Marion Schmid, 2017-07-28 Film established itself as an artistic form of expression at the same time that Proust started work on his masterpiece A la recherche du temps perdu. If Proust apparently took little interest in what he described as a poor avatar of reductive mimetic representation, the resonances between his own radical reworking of writing styles and the novelistic forms and cinema as the art of time are undeniable. Proust at the Movies is the first study in English to consider these rich interconnections. Its introductory chapter charts the missed encounter between Proust and the cinema and addresses the problems inherent in adapting his novel to the screen. The following chapters examine the various cinematic responses to A la recherche du temps perdu attempted to date: Luchino Visconti and Joseph Losey's failed attempts at adapting the whole of the novel in the 1970s; Volker Schlöndorff's Un Amour de Swann (1984); Raoul Ruiz's Le Temps retrouvé (1999); Chantal Akerman's La Prisonnière in La Captive (2000); and Fabio Carpi's Quartetto (Basileus, 1982) and Le Intermittenze del cuore (2003). The last chapter tracks the echoes of Proust's writing in the work of various directors from Abel Gance to Jean-Luc Godard. The approach is multidisciplinary, combining literary criticism with film theory and elements of philosophy of art. Special attention is given to the modernist legacy in literature and film with its distinctive aesthetic and narrative features. An outline of the history and recent evolution of contemporary art cinema thus emerges: a cinema where the themes at the heart of Proust's work—memory, time, perception—are ceaselessly explored. Cinema of Theodor Angelopoulos Angelos Koutsourakis, 2015-10-08 Bringing together established and emerging scholars from multiple disciplines, the collection's unique contribution is to show how Angelopoulos created singularly intricate forms whose aesthetic contours invite us to think critically about modern history. Place of Breath in Cinema Davina Quinlivan, 2014-02-11 This study considers the locus of the breathing body in the film experience and its implications for the study of embodiment in film and sensuous spectatorship. French XX Bibliography William J. Thompson, 2008-08 This annual French XX Bibliography provides the most complete listing available of books, articles, and book reviews concerned with French literature since 1885. Unique in its scope, thoroughness, and reliability of information, it has become an essential reference source in the study of modern French literature and culture.
