Raising Kids Ok:

Raising Kids O.K. Dorothy E. Babcock, Terry D. Keepers, 1976      Handbook on Parent Education Marvin J. Fine, 2014-05-10

Handbook on Parent Education presents a contemporary picture of the state of the parent education movement. It tackles a number of critical issues such as the programs that are available or when parent education should begin. Different models of parent education are described along with parenting programs for youth. The application of parenting programs for specific groups including foster parents, parents of preschoolers, abusive parents, and parents of handicapped children is also discussed. Comprised of 14 chapters, this book begins with an overview of the parent education movement as well as several prototype programs and some ethical issues. The distinction between education and therapy is explained, and parent education with special interest groups is described. In addition, problems of research and evaluation and a projection for the future are presented. Subsequent chapters focus on the state of the nuclear family in American society during the 1970s, Rudolf Dreikurs' impact on childrearing practices and his contribution to individual psychology together with the social context of child behavior, Haim Ginott's approach to parent education and the effects of parent effectiveness training on families, Transactional analysis approaches to parent education, and parent education as a strategy for the prevention of child abuse are also examined. This monograph will appeal to educators, parents, sociologists, and educational psychologists.

Parents as Educators Keith J. Topping, 2025-08-05

Modern practice in the 1980s was to involve parents increasingly in the education of their children and was supported by legislation. Particularly when children had special needs, parents required structured training and support to ensure they effectively sustained their vital role as educators at home. Many large scale programmes to provide this had been developed throughout the world at the time, for example Home Start, Portage, Home Visiting Projects, and Paired Reading Projects. However, not all of these had been thoroughly evaluated and the existing literature was scattered and difficult to access. Some projects demonstrated spectacular results and high cost effectiveness, while others proved more disappointing. Originally published in 1986, this book critically analyses over 600 international English language research reports on the effectiveness of parent training programmes. In addition, a detailed guide to the practicalities of planning projects is provided together with a comprehensive directory of useful resource materials. After an introductory overview, the evidence on the effects on child progress of parental involvement in school activities is reviewed, as is research on the impact of schemes of regular structured communication between home and school. Programmes designed to train parents to accelerate the development of their children at home are considered in the subsequent chapters, starting with ordinary children. Much of the book reviews projects targeted on children with some sort of special educational need, from children whose special needs stem from a widespread difficulty such as poverty or second language learning, systematically through to children whose needs stem from rarer and more severe issues. Each chapter has its own summary for ease of reader use, while an overall summary chapter points out best buys and directions for future developments This volume will be of major interest to teachers psychologists social workers community health personnel community educationalists researchers many others working with parents and children and to some parents themselves This book is a re issue originally published in 1986 The language used is a reflection of its era and no offence is meant by the Publishers to any reader by this re publication The Second Handbook on Parent Education Marvin J. Raising Kids O.K. Terry D. Keepers,1986 Positive Effective Parenting Carol Lynne,2012-03-20 Positive Effecting Parenting is designed to give parents and others involved with the care and well being of children the understanding and skills that will enable them to raise happy successful self regulating adults It will help them make changes in their childrens attitudes behaviors decrease conflicts stimulate communication and cooperation raise self esteem and enhance what is already working It will also teach parents how to change the quality of adult child relationships Positive Effective Parenting is easy to read and offers some fun as you get to take simple quizzes and answer questions about themselves and other members of the family      Systematic Intervention with Disturbed Children Marvin J. Fine,2012-12-06 Disturbed children constitute a sizeable and varied percentage of the child population Generally two to three percent have severe longstanding problems and 20 to 30 percent have current more transient problems While preventive efforts are needed it also seems obvious that many children will continue to function in a disturbed and disturbing fashion and will continue to require various kinds of therapeutic interventions These interventions will mainly occur in school and community settings This book attempts to present a picture of some fairly popular models of intervention and to consider important related issues There are probably as many ways of coping with disturbed children as there are creative caring persons attempting to do the coping A growing literature exists on ways of conceptualizing and intervening with such children It was believed by the editor that an organized body of information on these concepts and techniques would prove useful to student and practitioner A danger with such collections is that if they mainly portray novel or atypical techniques while informative the book quickly becomes passe and of limited value This book's focus is on contemporary thought but also on orientations that have stood the test of some time and the stability of the underlying theory      The Fine Art of Mentoring Ted W.
