The Governance of Rangelands Pedro M. Herrera, Jonathan Davies, Pablo Manzano Baena, 2014-10-10

Rangelands are large natural landscapes that can include grasslands shrublands savannahs and woodlands They are greatly influenced by and often dependent on the action of herbivores In the majority of rangelands the dominant herbivores are found in domestic herds that are managed by mobile pastoralists Most pastoralists manage their rangelands communally benefitting from the greater flexibility and seasonal resource access that common property regimes can offer As this book shows this creates a major challenge for governance and institutions This work improves our understanding of the importance of governance how it can be strengthened and the principles that underpin good governance in order to prevent degradation of rangelands and ensure their sustainability It describes the nature of governance at different levels community governance state governance international governance and the unique features of rangelands that demand collective action issues of scale ecological disequilibrium and seasonality A series of country case studies is presented drawn from a wide spectrum of examples from Africa the Middle East Central Asia Europe and North America These provide contrasting lessons which are summarised to promote improved governance of rangelands and pastoralist livelihoods
