Stockton, 2015-07-12 Excerpt from The Rudder Grangers Abroad And Other Stories The sun shone warm and soft as it shines in winter time in the semi tropics The wind blew strong as it blows whenever and wherever it listeth Seven pelicans labored slowly through the air A flock of ducks rose from the surface of the river A school of mullet disturbed by a shark or some other unscrupulous pursuer sprang suddenly out of the water just before us and fell into it again like the splashing of a sudden shower I lay upon the roof of the cabin of a little yacht Euphemia stood below her feet upon the mess chest and her elbows resting on the edge of the cabin roof A sudden squall would have unshipped her still if one would be happy there are risks that must be assumed At the open entrance of the cabin busily writing on a hanging shelf that served as a table sat a Paying Teller On the high box which during most of the day covered our stove was a little lady writing in a note book On the forward deck at the foot of the mast sat a young man in a state of placidness His feet stuck out on the bowsprit while his mildly contemplative eyes went forth unto the roundabout About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works looking over the bronzed faces of the stolid but kindly peasants who lounged silently around trying to see if I could detect in one a resemblance to the picture I had formed in my mind of Olaf of the Mountain or could discern in any eye a gleam of special interest to show that its possessor was on the watch for an expected guest To be continue in this ebook Chats on Old Miniatures J.
