George Young - Teacher, Performer, War Hero and Friend Alan Sharp,2019-08 I wrote this book because like many others I found George Young an inspiration It seemed it would be valuable to share his story using his own words wherever possible He was a man of many and varied talents An exceptionally gifted teacher at Colchester Royal Grammar School the book's appendix consists of 36 individuals' memories of his impact on them. They became his friends for as many as 60 years after leaving school and helped raise funds for a fine building as a memorial to him. Yet his influence and contribution extended far beyond the school. He had a distinguished career as an officer with the Green Howards during the Second World War and was awarded the Military Cross. Even after his retirement from teaching, he continued to perform on the theatre and Music Hall stages until after his 90th birthday, receiving a national award at the age of 91 as the oldest regular amateur performer in the country. His huge contribution to the theatrical life of Colchester as an actor and director with local drama groups included raising funds to assist with the establishment of the Mercury Theatre. Open any page in this book for a fascinating insight into George's character and wisdom, his wit and his accomplishments. It feels right to have a remarkable life such as his recorded for posterity.

South Africa's Rugby Legends Chris Schoeman, 2015-08-01 South Africa's Rugby Legends celebrates those players who have become truly immortal in the eyes of their fans: the greatest South African rugby players of the amateur years. This beautifully illustrated book covers the immense achievements of those players who ran out against the mighty All Blacks, the cunning Aussies and the fiery Welsh among others, and played their way into rugby folklore. These are the best of the best: the players who make you say 'Those were the days'. From Fairy Heatlie who played for South Africa against the British in 1891 to the genius Danie Craven in the 1930s, the inspirational Hennie Muller of the 1940s and 50s and the charismatic Morn du Plessis of the 1980s, the author explores in fascinating detail what made these men the unforgettable names they are today. With historical photographs from the author's personal collection, some of which have never been published before, this is the book every rugby fan will want for his or her personal collection.

Queering Tourism Lynda Johnston, 2007-05-07 Gay Pride parades are annual arenas of queer public culture where embodied notions of subjectivity are sold, enacted, transgressed and debated. From Sydney to Rome, Queering Tourism analyses the paradoxes of gay pride parades as tourist events, exploring how the public display of queer bodies, the way they look, what they do, who watches them and under what regulations is profoundly important in constructing sexualized subjectivities of bodies and cities. Drawing on extensive collections of interviews, visuals and written media, accounts, photographs, advertisements and her own participation in these parades, Lynda Johnston gives a vibrant account of queer tourism in New Zealand, Australia, Scotland and Italy. For each place, she looks at how the relationship between the viewer and the viewed produces paradoxical concepts of bodily difference and considers how the queered spaces of gay pride parades may prompt new understandings of power and tourism. Examining the intersection of sexuality, space and tourism and using empirical data gathered at Gay pride parades such as the Sydney Mardi Gras, New Zealand HERO Parade and World Pride Roma 2000, this important work produces a deconstructive account of tourism and presents new ways of thinking through the powerful processes of subjectivity formation.
