Blood in the City Richard D. E. Burton, 2018-10-18 The Terror of 1793 94 the Paris Commune of 1871 the Dreyfus Affair explosions of violence punctuated French history from the start of the Revolution until the Liberation at the close of World War II The distinguished scholar Richard D E Burton here offers a stunningly original account of these outbursts concluding that recourse to political violence was not occasional and abnormal but rather the usual pattern in French history Instead of adhering to conventional chronological lines Blood in the City is structured topologically around a number of major Parisian sites of memory including Place de la Concorde Sacr Coeur and the Eiffel Tower For thirty years Burton has visited and revisited Paris criss crossing the streets on foot and lived with great nineteenth and twentieth century literary depictions of the city Drawing on historical literary visual anthropological and psychological sources he develops a wide ranging account of violence in modern French politics In so doing he provides powerful insights into political violence scapegoating the idea of sacrifice and the widespread French obsession with conspiracy Burton demonstrates that time and again the same basic scenario has been acted out on the streets of Paris one or more people would be singled out from the community and imprisoned exiled or more often subjected to violence by the crowd or the state In particular he explores how Catholicism in its extreme ultrareactionary form shaped the worldviews of Parisians and how the killing of a sacrificial victim came to be seen as a reenactment of the crucifixion of Christ

Worlds of Power Stephen Ellis, Gerrie ter Haar, 2004 With Christian revivals including Evangelicals in the White House Islamic radicalism and the revitalisation of traditional religions it is clear that the world is not heading towards a community of secular states Nowhere are religious thought and political practice more closely intertwined than in Africa African migrants in Europe and America who send home money to build churches and mosques African politicians who consult diviners guerrilla fighters who believe that amulets can protect them from bullets and ordinary people who seek ritual healing all of these are applying religious ideas to everyday problems of existence at every level of society Far from falling off the map of the world Africa is today a leading centre of Christianity and a growing field of Islamic activism while African traditional religions are gaining converts in the West One cannot understand the politics of the present without taking religious thought seriously Stories about witches miracles or people returning from the dead incite political action In Africa religious belief has a huge impact on politics from the top of society to the bottom Religious ideas show what people actually think about the world and how to deal with it Ellis and Ter Haar maintain that the specific content of religious thought has to be mastered if we are to grasp the political significance of religion in Africa today but their book also informs our understanding of the relationship between religion and political practice in general
