Ruminant Immune System John E. Butler, 1981-06 In short all organ systems are interrelated in a physiological as well as an immunological sense While such interrelationships as the gut and mammary gland are very obvious those involving other systems may be more subtle but they are no less important and certainly not to be ignored While scientists in ruminant immunology should have little trouble justifying their activities from an economic standpoint such purely practical considerations alone should not dictate our desire to understand the basic mechanisms of the ruminant immune system On the contrary such an approach can be extremely dangerous In every society and discipline pursuit of knowledge for the sake of knowledge has its rightful place
