Running In Place A Campaign Journal:

Running in Place Bruce E. Altschuler, 1996 Running in Place is a fascinating insider account of Bill Scheuerman's political campaign in a rural county in upstate New York to win a seat in the New York State Assembly Altushuler a professor of political science and a participant in the campaign captures the excitement and disappointment of a volunteer staffed local campaign For many years political scientists have focused so narrowly on massive media political campaigns that the most common campaign the one for local office has been ignored. The book evaluates what we know about local political campaigns and how well these campaigns serve the voters Topics discussed include political parties candidate strategies campaign spending interest groups and the role of the media in the context of local elections Elections, Grades 5 - 8 Lee, 2010-08-06 Bring U S politics to life for students in grades 5 and up with Elections In this comprehensive text students learn the basics of democracy what makes up the electoral college how to compare election systems and how political parties work They also explore who votes and how voting systems and elections are run This 80 page book includes a complete glossary of political terms creative ideas for class campaigns and answer keys Where Women Run Kira Sanbonmatsu, 2010-02-09 Why don t more women run for office Why are certain states more likely to have female candidates and representatives Would strengthening political parties narrow the national gender gap Where Women Run addresses these important questions through a rare and incisive look at how candidates are recruited Drawing on surveys and case studies of party leaders and legislators in six states political scientist Kira Sanbonmatsu analyzes the links between parties and representation exposing the mechanism by which parties informal recruitment practices shape who runs or doesn't run for political office in America Kira Sanbonmatsu has done a masterful job of linking the representation of women in elective office to the activities of party organizations in the states She combines qualitative and quantitative data to show how women are navigating the campaign process to become elected leaders and the changing role of party organizations in their recruitment and election It is a significant contribution to the study of representative democracy Barbara Burrell Northern Illinois University Sanbonmatsu has produced an excellent study that will invigorate research on the role of political parties and the recruitment of women candidates Using a variety of methods and data sources she has crafted a tightly constructed clearly argued and exceedingly well written study A commendable and convincing job Gary Moncrief Boise State University Sanbonmatsu offers important insights in two neglected areas of American politics the role of political parties in recruiting candidates and the continued under representation of women in elected office Connecting the two subjects through careful qualitative and statistical methods insightful interpretation of the literature and interesting findings the book is a significant new addition to scholarship on parties gender and political recruitment Linda Fowler Dartmouth College Kira Sanbonmatsu is Associate Professor of Political Science at Rutgers University and Senior Scholar at the Eagleton Institute of Politics Center for American Women and Politics CAWP She was previously associate professor at Ohio State University She is the
