Introduction to Literary Studies language English abstract Two of the most famous war poets of the First World War are Wilfred Owen and Rupert Brooke At first glance both poets seem to have many similarities Both Owen and Brooke were civilians who joined the army at a young age both wrote poetry inspired by their war experiences and both died during the war But looking at the content of their poems the differences are significant almost as if both poets witnessed different wars While Brooke's poems glorify war and the heroic deeds of the soldiers Owen's poetry tries to show the reality of war and trench warfare As both poets are examples for the changing perception of war in early and later war poetry so are their poems The Soldier and Dulce et Decorum est examples of how those different mentalities are represented in poetry This paper focuses especially on the form of both poems as both use the form of the sonnet to achieve but with very different results

World War I Poetry Edith Wharton, Wilfred Owen, Rupert Brooke, Siegfried Sassoon, 2017-09 This beautiful silkbound edition showcases the incredible poetry of the First World War presented in a decorative slipcase The horrors of the First World War brought released a great outburst of emotional poetry from the soldiers who fought in it Edith Wharton Wilfred Owen and Rupert Brooke are just some of the poets whose work is featured in this anthology The raw emotion unleashed in these poems still has the power to move readers today As well as poems detailing the miseries of war there are poems on themes of bravery friendship and loyalty and this collection shows how even in the depths of despair the human spirit can still triumph

Soldier Poetry of the Second World War Jane Morgan, Walter Morgan, 1990 Grouped under such headings as heroism fear death daily thoughts living Italy Belgium western and northwestern Europe Germany dreams hope love peace freedom and afterwards Rupert Brooke, Charles Sorley, Isaac Rosenberg, and Wilfred Owen Lorna Hardwick, Stephen Harrison, Elizabeth Vandiver, 2024-07-23 Rupert Brooke Wilfred Owen Isaac Rosenberg and Charles Sorley all died in the First World War They came from diverse social educational and cultural backgrounds but for all of the writers engagement with Greek and Roman antiquity was decisive in shaping their war poetry The world views and cultural hinterlands of Brooke and Sorley were framed by the Greek and Latin texts they had studied at school whereas for Owen who struggled with Latin classical texts were a part of his aspirational literary imagination Rosenberg's education was limited but he encountered some Greek and Roman literature through translations and through mediations in English literature The various ways in which the poets engaged with classical literature are analysed in the commentaries which are designed to be accessible to classicists and to users from other subject areas The extensive range of connections made by the poets and by subsequent readers is explained in the Introduction to the volume The commentaries illuminate relationships between the poems and attitudes to the war at the time in the immediate post war years and subsequently They also probe how individual poems reveal various facets of the poetry of unease the poetry of survival and the poetics of war and ecology References to the accompanying online Oxford Classical Reception Commentaries will enable readers to follow up their special interests This volume differs from the shorter volume Greek and Roman Antiquity in First World War Poetry Making Connections in
