Rural Africa:

Rural Development Planning in Africa Meleckidzedeck Khayesi, 2017-11-12 This book applies a range of theories that focus on current concerns in rural Africa. The contributors lay out the conceptualization, analysis, methods, assumptions, perceptions, and ideas considered in each individual case. Specifically, this project inspires research in the field of rural development in Africa through multi-faceted endeavors that promote the ability of planning to uplift people's well-being and quality of life.

The Transformation of Rural Africa T. S. Jayne, Jordan Chamberlin, Rui Benfica, 2020-04-28 Contemporary discussions of Africa's recent growth have largely interpreted such growth in terms of structural transformation based mainly on national and sectoral level data. However, the micro-level processes driving this transformation are still unclear and remain the subject of debate. This collection provides a micro-economic foundation for understanding the particular growth processes at work within the region's rural areas and, in so doing, provides important insights for policy action. The book provides valuable household and farm-level evidence about the drivers of rural labour productivity improvements, access to markets, investment in food value chains, and indeed the role of rural economic growth in Africa's ongoing rural transformation processes. Some of the features of Africa's ongoing rural transformation are similar to those of agricultural transformation as experienced in Asia and elsewhere. However, other features of Africa's rural transformation are unique and pose important challenges for development policy and planning. Together, the studies compiled in this volume provide an updated evidence-based and policy-relevant understanding of where African countries are in their developmental trajectories and the region's prospects for achieving inclusive forms of development over the next several decades. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Development Studies.

Development from Within D. R. F. Taylor, Fiona Mackenzie, 2024-09-30 The decade of the 1980s was one of crisis for Africa. Neither African governments nor development agencies made a significant impact on the quality of life of rural people. The enormous range of contexts in Africa, social, economic, political, cultural, and environmental, limits the value of the search for universal solutions to endemic problems. First published in 1992, Development from Within examines an alternative framework arguing for flexibility and specificity. The authors use case studies to explore the complex social relationships of power from the household to the state. They argue for the knowledge and skill of African people and illustrate the diverse means by which men and women in rural Africa struggle to survive. This book will be a beneficial read for students and researchers of African studies, development studies, economics, and sociology.

Food Security for Rural Africa Terry Leahy, 2018-09-03 At least fifty years of projects aimed at the rural poor in Africa have had very little impact. Up to half of the children of these countries are still suffering from stunting and malnutrition. Soil degradation and poor crop yields are ubiquitous. Projects are almost always aimed at helping local people to solve their problems by growing for the market. In some countries, projects link poor villagers into cooperatives to produce a commercial output. In other countries, projects target more competent entrepreneurial villagers.

Almost all these projects fail after several years Even those that are successful make few inroads into the problems While the slogan feeding the farmers first comes from the Philippines it is particularly applicable to much of Africa where household food security can come from household production This book explains how projects can be designed that increase food security through subsistence production Focusing on particular people and projects it gives a sociological analysis of why this is so difficult to manage This book challenges the models promoted by academics in the field of development studies and argues against the strategies adopted by most donor organizations and government bodies It explains why commercial projects have been so ubiquitous even though they rarely work It gives practical tips on how to set up villages and farms to achieve sustainable solutions that also provide plenty of nutritious food The book is written to be accessible and engaging For anyone planning to work in the rural areas of Africa this book is required reading Transforming rural Africa Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2024-03-22 The UN Decade of Family Farming 2019 2028 acknowledges the importance of inclusive rural communication services RCS to advance economic environmental and social dimensions of family farming Focusing on Africa this study examines the role of RCS in rural transformation and family farming and provides insights for the region Through case studies and a review of media and ICT trends and policies it highlights the need for participatory farmer centred communication approaches and responsive delivery mechanisms aligned with local socioeconomic realities The study concludes with recommendations for embedding RCS into national policies thereby opening new development opportunities for family farmers and rural communities in the Africa region Youth and jobs in rural Africa: Beyond stylized facts: Synopsis Mueller, Valerie,Thurlow, James,2019-11-28 The rural population in Africa south of the Sahara is growing and its rural economy is still underdeveloped The pressure to create jobs in rural areas is therefore particularly acute There is cause for optimism however Evidence suggests that agriculture is transforming in many African countries albeit slowly and that youth are often participating in this process Further research is needed to accelerate this progress Development from Within David Ruxton Fraser Taylor,Fiona Mackenzie,1992 Development from Within focuses on the relationship between local action and macro event arguing for flexibility as an ideology as well as a strategy Presenting an alternative to structural adjustment indigenous African scholars use case studies to explore the complex social relationships of power Against the current tide of pessimism the authors argue for the knowledge and skill of African peoples and illustrate the diverse means by which men and women in rural Africa struggle to survive Regional analysis of the

of Africa Bloomsbury Publishing, 1996-11-25 Written lucidly and simply to serve as an introduction to the study of the African continent from a human population perspective this book demonstrates important factors in the ebb and flow of group size and structure using the example of the fastest growing region in the world From a total original population of less than a quarter million in prehistoric times to the present count of 642 million people in 1990 Africa is now demonstrating an annual growth rate of 3.0% the highest on the planet While the rest of the world's population is expected to increase by 60% Africa's is expected to increase by 100% doubling by the year 2025 to a projected total of 1.6 billion people The major factor creating the high growth rate is the drop in death rates while the fertility rates remain high Stress on the population has been related to urbanization which has increased since African countries attained independence in the 1960s Employment opportunities in cities are inadequate and slum conditions have appeared around most major cities Since agriculture remains the major industry and occupation rural development policies are seen to hold the most promise for stemming urban migration and reducing famine and poverty Africa's Water and Sanitation Infrastructure, 2011-01-01 Africa's Water and Sanitation Infrastructure Access Affordability and Alternatives integrates a wealth of primary and secondary information to present a quantitative snapshot of the state of the WSS sectors in Africa It explains the sectoral institutional structures and utility performance and articulates the volume and quality of financing available over time The authors also evaluate the challenges to the WSS sectors and explore the factors that govern the expansion of coverage over time Finally the authors estimate spending needs for WSS arriving at a funding gap for meeting the MDGs The proposed directions for the future draw on lessons learned from best practices and present the menu of choices available to African countries bearing in mind that the challenges differ to a significant extent among countries and solutions must be tailored to national or regional conditions Book Jacket Africa's Choices Michael Barratt Brown,2019-05-20 This book provides an account of actual African experience and African criticisms It is designed to examine the actual viability of the World Bank s structural adjustment strategies for Africa all of which were designed to encourage export led growth Africa Maria Grosz-Ngaté,John H. must read for scholars and students interested in understanding indigenous educational efforts aimed at promoting sustained improvements in the quality of life of African peoples Decolonizing Colonial Development Models in Africa Fidelis Allen, Luke A. Amadi, 2022-01-17 Decolonizing Colonial Development Models in Africa A New Postcolonial Critique confronts colonial development models to decolonize methodologies epistemologies and the history and practice of development in postcolonial African societies and advocates for Afrocentric alternatives By taking a critical approach and drawing on postcolonial postmodern post developmental and post structural theories the contributors identify and analyze the effects of global inequality racism white supremacy crisis climate change increasing environmental insecurity underdevelopment chronic diseases and the vulnerability of the postcolonial societies of the global South Together the collection calls for and theorizes a new direction of development that incorporates indigenous Afrocentric alternatives Africa's Agricultural Renaissance Ayodele Odusola, 2021-06-26 This book addresses the paradox between preponderance of hunger in a continent that is well endowed with fertile agricultural land plenty of fresh water and a vibrant labor force As some statistics show close to 60% of arable land in the world is located in Africa which also has several rivers flowing in all seasons and plenty of underground water The bulk of its labor force thrives on agriculture yet the continent's largest import item is food 23 of 36 the most malnourished countries also belong in Africa This has caused significant needless human suffering This book goes beyond providing the traditional framework of supplying policy recommendations to delivering an applied innovative framework upon which policymakers the private sector and international institutions can take clear and deliberate action to stimulate Africa's agricultural sector thus responding to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development Agriculture, Diversification, and Gender in Rural Africa Agnes Andersson Djurfeldt, Fred Mawunyo Dzanku, Aida C. Isinika, 2018 This book contributes to the understanding of smallholder agriculture in sub Saharan Africa through addressing the dynamics of intensification and diversification within and outside agriculture in contexts where women have much poorer access to agrarian resources than men Legitimate Governance in Africa Edward Kofi Quashigah, Obiora Chinedu Okafor, 1999-04-14 Part I Introduction Youth Exclusion and Empowerment in the Contemporary Global Order Oláyínká Àkànle, 2022-08-16 The second of two volumes filling a gap in the literature in understanding and responding to this grand challenge this edited collection focuses particularly on the impact and complex consequences of migration youth experiences and the functioning of digital spaces and the shaping of youth identity through exposure to both Cooperatives, the State, and Corporate Power in African Export Agriculture Karin Wedig, 2019-02-22 Agriculture is a major contributor to Africa's GDP the region's biggest source of employment and its largest food producer However agricultural productivity remains low and buyer driven global value chains offer few opportunities for small producers to upgrade into higher value added activities In recent years the revival of Africa's cooperatives has been celebrated by governments and international donors as a pathway towards inclusive agricultural development and this book explores the strengths but also the issues which surround these cooperatives The book scrutinizes the neoliberal ideal of economic prosperity arising through the operation of liberalized labor markets by illuminating the discriminatory nature of Uganda's informal labor relations It points to the role of cooperatives as a potential instrument of progressive change in African export agriculture where large numbers of small producers depend on casual wage work in addition to farming In contrast to the portrayal advanced by some governments and rarely questioned by donors of an unproblematic co-existence of small producers' collective action and big capital interests the author calls for a re-politicized debate on the Social and Solidarity Economy As part of this she highlights the adverse political and economic conditions faced by African cooperatives including intense international competition in agricultural processing inadequate access to infrastructure and services and at times antagonistic state-cooperative relations Supported by wide-ranging interdisciplinary evidence including new ethnographic survey and interview data this book shows how cooperatives may be co-opted by both the state and corporations in a discourse that ignores structural inequalities in value chains and emphasizes poverty reduction over economic and political empowerment It provides a critique of New Institutional Economics as a framework for understanding how institutions shape redistribution and develops a political economy approach to explore the conditions for structural change in African export agriculture
