Rural South Asia Linkages Change Devel:

Reshaping Economic Geography in East Asia Yukon Huang, Alessandro Magnoli Bocchi, 2008-10-15 This companion volume to the World Development Report 2009 comprises twenty papers authored by noted Asian scholars. These studies highlight how throughout East Asia spatial considerations have influenced Government policies at the national, regional, and local levels. Key themes include how countries have dealt with 1 agglomeration economies, urbanization, and regional disparities; 2 improving connectivity with infrastructure investments; and 3 eliminating barriers across and within countries to favor the movement of labor, goods, and services. Achievements vary widely across countries, while some succeeded in enhancing competitiveness and improving social outcomes, others are experiencing increasing inequalities and failures to spur growth in disadvantaged areas. The book highlights many examples of how the new economic geography is reshaping development objectives from initiatives to foster growth via enhanced agglomeration and improved local connectivity to the world economy to special decentralization programs that channel resources to lagging regions. This volume will be of great interest to readers working in the areas of economic policy, poverty reduction, and urban/rural development strategies and transport-led infrastructure policy.

Rural South Asia Peter Robb, 2023-10-27 First published in 1983, Rural South Asia examines questions of change and development in terms of linkages between localities and the outside world. The authors examine the response specifically to the introduction of modern features of production, the importance of physical, cultural, and economic communication, and the impact of various development efforts. This book will be of interest to students of South Asian studies, history, economics, and agriculture.

Migration, Modernity and Social Transformation in South Asia Filippo Osella, Katy Gardner, 2004-05-25 Most of the papers presented at a workshop held at Sussex in January 2001 and some contributed articles previously published.

Labour-Management Relations in Colonial India Arup Kumar Sen, 2025-05-15 This book is a pioneering study of the relationship between management and labour in three key industries: namely coal, jute, and cotton textile in colonial India from 1900 to 1947. It studies history of labour and enterprise through a Marxian Gramscian lens. The author builds a narrative of economic history alongside he pens a social history of working class life. It is a rare blend of economic and social history and an indispensable tract to understand the history of capitalist industrialization and concomitant labour management relations in colonial India within the broad framework of Marxism.

Hierarchy and Egalitarianism Tamara Gunasekera, 2020-08-20 A comprehensive analysis of stratification in rural Sri Lanka taking into account the hierarchies of class, status, and power.

Communities and Markets in Economic Development Masahiko Aoki, The late Yujiro Hayami, 2001-05-31 This book explores the role of community in facilitating the transition to market relationships in economic development and in controlling and sustaining local public goods such as irrigation, forests, grazing land, and fishing grounds. Previously it was customary to classify economic systems in terms of varying combinations of state and market control of resource allocation. In contrast, this book recognizes community as the third major element of economic systems This new approach also departs from the conventional view that markets and community norms should be treated as mutually exclusive means of organizing economic activity instead clarifying the situations in which they may become complementary Further discussion focuses on the conditions under which management of local commons can and should be delegated to local communities rather than subjected to the control of central government These and other issues are investigated by twenty one leading scholars from economic history development economics agricultural economics and institutional economics The resulting volume is the latest in a set of four books about East Asian developmental experiences co sponsored by the Economic Institute of the World Bank and the Stanford Institute of Economic Policy Research It will appeal to economists and other social scientists with an interest in economic development history comparative systems and institutional economics Plantations, Proletarians and Peasants in Colonial Asia H. Bernstein,T. Brass,E.V.

Daniel,2019-08-15 This volume originated in a conference on Capitalist Plantations in Colonial Asia held at the Centre for Asian Studies of the University of Amsterdam and Free University of Amsterdam in September 1990 The contributions to this collection focus on the production of rubber sugar tea and several less strategic plantation crops in colonial Indochina Java Malaya the Philippines India Ceylon Mauritius and Fiji although geographically anomalous both the latter are included because of the centrality to their sugar plantations of indentured labour from India Institutions and Ideologies David

Arnold,Peter Robb,2013-02-01 Informative timely and accessible introduction to the study of South Asia by leading scholars in the field Ancient Rights and Future Comfort Peter Robb,2013-10-31 This book analyses the character of British rule in nineteenth century India by focusing on the underlying ideas and the practical repercussions of agrarian policy It argues that the great rent law debate and the Bengal Tenancy Act of 1885 helped constitute a revolution in the effective aims of government and in the colonial ability to interfere in India but that they did so alongside a continuing weakness of understanding and in effective local control In particular the book considers the importance of notions of historical rights and economic progress to the false categorisations made of agrarian structure It shows that the Tenancy Act helped to widen social disparities in rural Bihar and to create political interests on the land New Seeds and Poor People Michael Lipton,Richard Longhurst,2010-11-29 First published in 1989 this book deals with the impact of cereal production upon the Third World specifically Modern Varieties MVs Using evidence from plant breeding economics and nutrition science the authors seek to pinpoint what has been achieved what has gone wrong and what needs to be done in future Although the technical innovations of MVs mean more employment cheaper food and less risk for small farmers the reduction in crop diversity increases the risk of danger from pests and though MVs enlarge cereal stocks many are too poor to afford them The book concludes that technical breakthroughs alone won t solve deep rooted social problems and that only new policies and research priorities will increase the choices assets and power of the rural poor Memory, Identity and the Colonial

Encounter in India Ezra Rashkow,Sanjukta Ghosh,Upal Chakrabarti,2017-08-18 This book sheds new light on the dynamics of the colonial encounter between Britain and India It highlights how various analytical approaches to this encounter can be creatively mobilised to rethink entanglements of memory and identity emerging from British rule in the subcontinent This volume reevaluates central long standing debates about the historical impact of the British Raj by deviating from hegemonic and top down civilizational perspectives It focuses on interactions relations and underlying meanings of the colonial experience The narratives of memory identity and the legacy of the colonial encounter are woven together in a diverse range of essays on subjects such as colonial and nationalist memorials British Eurasian Dalit and Adivasi identities regional political configurations and state initiatives and patterns of control By drawing on empirically rich regional and chronological historical studies this book will be essential reading for students and researchers of history political science colonial studies cultural studies and South Asian studies

Forager-Traders in South and Southeast Asia Kathleen D. Morrison, Laura L. Junker, 2002-12-05 In both South and Southeast Asia many upland groups make a living in whole or part through gathering and hunting producing not only subsistence goods but commodities destined for regional and even world markets These forager traders have had an ambiguous position in ethnographic analysis variously represented as relics degraded hunter gatherers or recent upstarts Forager Traders in South and Southeast Asia adopts a multidisciplinary approach to these groups presenting a series of comparative case studies that analyse the long term histories of hunting gathering trading power relations and regional social and biological interactions in this critical region This book is a fascinating and important addition to the current revisionist debate and a unique attempt to re conceptualize our knowledge of forager traders within the surrounding context of complex polities populations and economies in South and Southeast Asia

Sexuality, Obscenity and Community C. Gupta, 2002-05-30 Through analysis of an impressive array of low and high Hindu literatures particularly pamphlets tracts newspapers and archival data Gupta explores the emerging discourse of gender and sexuality which was essential to the development of notions of Hindu communality and nationalism in the colonial period The book offers an exceptionally nuanced account of Hindi gender politics

In the Shadows of the Tropics James S. Duncan, 2016-05-23 In this original work James Duncan explores the transformation of Ceylon during the mid nineteenth century into one of the most important coffee growing regions of the world and investigates the consequent ecological disaster which erased coffee from the island Using this fascinating case study by way of illustration In the Shadows of the Tropics reveals the spatial unevenness and fragmentation of modernity through a focus on modern governmentality and biopower It argues that the practices of colonial power and the differences that race and tropical climates were thought to make were central to the working out of modern governmental rationalities In this context the usefulness of Foucault's notions of biopower discipline and governmentality are examined The work contributes an important rural focus to current work on studies of governmentality in geography and offers a welcome non state dimension by considering the role of the plantation economy and individual capitalists in the lives and deaths of labourers the destabilization of subsistence farming and the aggressive re territorialization of populations from India to Ceylon The Politics of the Urban Poor in Early Twentieth-Century India Nandini Gooptu, 2001-07-05 Nandini Gooptu's magisterial 2001 history of the labouring poor in India represents a tour de force The Origins of Industrial Capitalism in India Rajnarayan Chandavarkar, 1994 The first major study of the relationship between labour and capital in India's economic development in the early twentieth century The author considers the spread of capitalism and the growth of the cotton textile industry Identity, Gender, and Poverty Maya Unnithan-Kumar, 1997 Most studies of the so-called tribal communities in India stress their social economic and political differences from communities that are organized on the basis of caste It was this apparent contrast between tribal and caste lifestyle and moreover the paucity of material on tribal groups that motivated the author to undertake this study of a poor tribal community the Girasia in northwestern India While carrying out her fieldwork the author soon became aware that the traditional tribe caste categories needed to be revised in fact she found them more often than not to be constructs by outsiders mostly academic Of greater importance for an understanding of the Girasia was the wider and more complex issue of self perception and identification by others that must be seen in the context of their poverty as well as in the strategic and shifting use of kinship gender and class relations in the region Dependent Agency in the Global Health Regime Emma-Louise Anderson, Amy S. Patterson, 2016-11-09 This volume examines how local actors respond to Africa's high dependence on donor health funds It focuses on the large infusion of donor money to address HIV and AIDS into Malawi and Zambia and the subsequent slow down in that funding after 2009 How do local people respond to this dynamic aid architecture and the myriad of opportunities and constraints that accompany it This book conceptualizes dependent agency and the condition in which local actors can simultaneously act and be dependent and investigates conditions under which dependent agency occurs Drawing upon empirical data from Malawi and Zambia collected between 2005 and 2014 the work interrogates the nuanced strategies of dependent agency performances of compliance extraversion and resistance below the line The findings elucidate the dynamic interactions between actors which often occur off stage but which undergird macro level development processes The Environment and Economic Development in South Asia Mohammad Alauddin, Clement Tisdell, 1998-05-15 The major challenges facing South Asia to achieve sustainable development are investigated using case studies and applying new points of view in economic thought about the connection between development and the environment After reviewing economic perspectives on development and the environment and South Asia's situation particular issues such as depletion of natural resources and land degradation the environmental impacts and consequences of extending markets of technological change and property rights are examined Environmental change and employment income distribution and poverty population growth and urbanisation are considered The Economy of Modern India, 1860-1970 B. R. Tomlinson, 1996-10-24 This book presents the first comprehensive account of the history of economic growth in modern India
