Rural Community In The Appalachian Southpb92:

Rural Community in the Appalachian South Patricia D. Beaver, 1986 This monograph explores the issues of community family in Southern Appalachia Change in Rural Appalachia John D. Photiadis, Harry K. Schwarzweller, 2016-11-11 Appalachia is a region in trouble Even in the more remote coves and hollows major social and economic changes are disturbing the traditional ways of life The conditions which have made it a pocket of poverty cannot be easily eradicated and the rapid changes of recent years have added further severe problems of adjustment which deeply affect the family church life education the folk sub culture and above all the individual Out migration psychological dislocation and cultural alienation are the result The nine contributing scholars have lived and worked in Appalachia they know the people and their customs their problems and their needs They are thoroughly familiar with the programs now in operation and are well qualified to evaluate their success or failure in terms of those needs Furthermore their findings can be applied to other regions and nations wherever an isolated group has been abruptly incorporated into the mainstream of society while many of its peculiar problems remain unsolved Rural Appalachia may in fact be considered a microcosm of the underdeveloped nations of the world the issues raised here far transcend the importance of a regional study The essays are grouped according to four general areas of research The first part deals with the individual in his society the second with six social institutions economy government family religion education and power structure the third with methods and objectives of change and the fourth with the aims of change agencies particularly the Extension Service of the future As the tangle of problems strains and tensions is explored the focus remains steadily upon immediate and long term effects on the individual The book is dedicated to the professional field workers in programs of directed change struggling on the one hand with ideas theories and conceptual innovations and on the other hand with the immediate realities of the local situations Community and Family Change in Rural Appalachia John D. Photiadis, 1985 Confronting Ecological Crisis in Appalachia and the South Stephanie McSpirit, Lynne Faltraco, Connor Bailey, 2012-07-01 Throughout Appalachia corporations control local economies and absentee ownership of land makes it difficult for communities to protect their waterways mountains and forests Yet among all this uncertainty are committed citizens who have organized themselves to confront both external power holders and often their own local state and federal agents Determined to make their voice heard and to improve their living conditions newfound partnerships between community activists and faculty and students at community colleges and universities have formed to challenge powerful bureaucratic infrastructures and to protect local ecosystems and communities Confronting Ecological Crisis University and Community Partnerships in Appalachia and the South addresses a wide range of cases that have presented challenges to local environments public health and social justice faced by the people of this region Editors Stephanie McSpirit Lynne Faltraco and Conner Bailey along with community leaders and their university partners describe stories of unlikely unions between faculty students and Appalachian communities in which both sides learn from one another and most importantly form a unique alliance in the fight against corporate control Confronting Ecological Crisis is a comprehensive look at the citizens and organizations that have emerged to fight the continued destruction of Appalachia
