Hill, 2013-03-13 Post communist Russia turned against the West in the 2000s losing its earlier eagerness to collaborate with western Europe on economic and security matters and adopting a suspicious and defensive posture This book investigating a diplomatic negotiation involving Russia and the formerly Soviet Moldova explains this dramatic shift in Russian foreign policy William H Hill himself a participant in the diplomatic encounter describes a key episode that contributed to Russia s new attitude negotiations over the Russian leaning break away territory of Transdniestria in Moldova in which Moldova abandoned a Russian supported settlement at the last minute under heavy pressure from the West Hill s first hand account provides a unique perspective on historical events as well as information to assist scholars and policymakers to evaluate future scenarios When western leaders blocked what they saw as an unworkable settlement in a small remote post Soviet state Kremlin leaders perceived a direct geopolitical challenge on their own turf This event colored Russia s interpretations of subsequent western intervention in the region in Georgia after the Rose Revolution Ukraine in 2004 Kyrgyzstan Uzbekistan and elsewhere throughout the former Soviet empire      The Bear Next Door Jaimy Melinda Wood, 2004      Russia and the Commonwealth of Independent States Zbigniew K Brzezinski, 2016-09-16 This work brings together major accords and protocols that form the institutional framework of the Commonwealth of Independent States CIS a selection of policy statements by the leaders of CIS countries a chronological record of political economic and military security developments and major crises in CIS hot spots and statistics and country profiles      Russia and Its Near Abroad Nivedita Das Kundu, 2008-01-01      Central Asia - Russia's Near Abroad or Crossroads of Asia? Richard Pomfret, 2025-03-20 This Element assesses the claim that Central Asian countries hold a special position as Russia s near abroad The region has been important for millennia and only after conquest in the second half of the nineteenth century did Russia become important for Central Asia This connection became stronger after 1917 as Central Asia was integrated into the Soviet economy with rail roads and pipelines all leading north to Russia After independence these connections were gradually modified by new trade links and by new infrastructure while Russia s demand for unskilled labour during the 1999 2014 oil boom created a new economic dependency for Tajikistan and the

Kyrgyz Republic In 1991 political independence could not be accompanied by economic independence but over the next three decades economic dependence on Russia was reduced and the Central Asian countries have felt increasingly able to adopt political positions independent of Russia

Near Abroad Gerard Toal, 2016-12-16 Before Russia invaded Ukraine it invaded Georgia Both states are part of Russia's near abroad newly independent states that were once part of the Soviet Union and are now Russia's neighbors While the Russia Georgia war of 2008 faded from the headlines in the wake of the global recession the geopolitical contest that created it did not Six years later the spectre of a revanchist Russia returned when Putin's forces invaded and annexed the Crimean peninsula once part of Russia but an internationally recognized part of Ukraine since the Soviet collapse Crimea's annexation and follow on conflict in eastern Ukraine have generated the greatest geopolitical crisis on the European continent since the end of the Cold War In Near Abroad the eminent political geographer Gerard Toal moves beyond the polemical rhetoric that surrounds Russia's interventions in Georgia and Ukraine to study the underlying territorial conflicts and geopolitical struggles Central to understanding are legacies of the Soviet Union collapse unresolved territorial issues weak states and a conflicted geopolitical culture in Russia over the new territorial order The West's desire to expand NATO contributed to a growing geopolitical contest in Russia's near abroad This found expression in a 2008 NATO proclamation that Georgia and Ukraine will become members of NATO a red line issue for Russia The road to invasion and war in Georgia and Ukraine thereafter is explained in Near Abroad Geopolitics is often thought of as a game of chess Near Abroad provides an account of real life geopolitics one that emphasizes changing spatial relationships geopolitical cultures and the power of media images Rather than being a cold game of deliberation geopolitics is often driven by emotions and ambitions by desires for freedom and greatness by clashing personalities and reckless acts Not only a penetrating analysis of Russia's relationships with its regional neighbors Near Abroad also offers an analysis of how US geopolitical culture frequently fails to fully understand Russia and the geopolitical archipelago of dependencies in its near abroad

Wegren, 2016-07-08 Designed for use in courses on contemporary Russia this volume explores Russia's policy dilemmas in three realms international security socio political and socio economic In each of these categories Russia faces daunting problems none of which is likely to be resolved quickly or easily Yet over the longer term the extent to which policymakers are successful in dealing with these challenges will go far in determining Russia's future place in the world how Russians will live and what kind of country Russia becomes Each expertly authored chapter outlines the nature of one major issue traces its evolution and policy developments under the Yeltsin and Putin presidencies and evaluates the effectiveness and prospects of efforts to come to grips with the challenge

The State of Play in Russia's Near Abroad, 2009 Right now Russia is engaged in a grand face saving gesture having lost the Cold War in so dramatic a fashion it is swapping dreams of global domination for dreams of Eurasian suzerainty Key to this aspiration is rigorous control over the activities alliances internal affairs and attitudes of the generally former Soviet states on its periphery and a new entrant the Arctic Ocean With World War II now woven into their being Russians want to be able to defeat an invader on foreign rather than Russian territory in buffer states such as Mongolia and the Muslim Slavic near abroad Thus their overwhelming desire to coopt these lands and create a sort of peripheral suzerainty where all others must fear to tread Attempts to control the next ring of former Warsaw Pact allies have been abysmal but that has not stopped Russia from trying witness for instance the political capital expended to prevent Kosovo's independence or to torpedo the proposed U S antiballistic missile defense system in Poland and the Czech Republic Highly reminiscent of America's own Monroe Doctrine Moscow is asserting a privileged sphere of influence and expecting the world to concur without objection It is increasingly laying down markers and drawing red lines in the sand so border states are constantly aware they can only go so far before displeasing their neighbor
