New Approaches to Hedging Gunther Kaltenböck, Wiltrud Mihatsch, Stefan Schneider, 2012-11-02 Hedging is an essential part of everyday communication It is a discourse strategy which is used to reduce commitment to the force or truth of an utterance to achieve an appropriate pragmatic effect In recent years hedges have therefore attracted increased attention in Pragmatics and Applied Linguistics with studies approaching the concept of hedging from various perspectives such as speech act and politeness theory genre specific investigations interactional pragmatics and studies of vague language The present volume provides an up to date overview of current research on the topic by bringing together studies from a variety of fields The contributions span a range of different languages investigate the use of hedges in different communicative settings and text types and consider all levels of linguistic analysis from prosody to morphology syntax and semantics What unites the different studies in this volume is a corpus based approach in which various theoretical concepts and categories are applied to and tested against actual language data This allows for patterns of use to be uncovered which have previously gone unnoticed and provides valuable insights for the adjustment and fine tuning of existing categories The usage based approach of the investigations therefore offers new theoretical and descriptive perspectives on the context dependent nature and multifunctionality of hedges

Literary Societies of Republican China Michel Hockx,Kirk A. Denton,2008-01-01 Denton and Hockx present thirteen essays treating a variety of literary organizations from China s Republican era 1911 1949 Interdisciplinary in approach the essays are primarily concerned with describing and analyzing the social and cultural complexity of literary groupings and the role of these social formations in literary production of the period

Literary Societies Of Republican China Kirk A. Denton,Michel Hockx,1955-01-01

Literary Societies in Republican China provides a new and comprehensive perspective on the fascinating literary world of the most turbulent period in recent Chinese history the Republican era of 1911 1949 Wedged between the fall of the Empire and the founding of the Communist state the Republican period witnessed enormous social political and cultural changes Traditionally the period is seen as one of transition from the country being partially colonized and occupied to being an independent nation state from Confucianism to socialism from writing in classical Chinese to writing in the everyday vernacular Modern scholarship however has become suspicious of such attempts to analyze history including cultural history as a journey from A to B via C Instead attention has turned to the thick description of complex historical phenomena without worrying about whether or not they fit into some neat linear scheme Inevitably such scholarship benefits from collaboration and teamwork from the juxtaposition of different insights and different materials in order to gain in overall breadth Literary Societies in Republican China represents such teamwork and such breadth The thirteen essays by eleven scholars from North America Europe and Asia present detailed discussions of particular literary groups active on the Republican era literary scene Some of these groups are familiar representatives of what used to be considered the mainstream while others represent literary styles that have hitherto been considered marginal or that have been ignored altogether Each of the essays in this volume looks in detail at literary societies both as producers of literary views and texts and as organizations with sometimes very complex social structures The result is a unique blend of literary cultural and social history unrivalled in any English language scholarship on China to date
