

CHAPTER I. MR. SHERLOCK HOLMES.

In the year 1878 I took my degree of Doctor of Medicine at the University of London, and proceeded to Berlin to go through the course provided for foreigners in the same University. I was duly attached to the little Northumberland Institute for Foreign Students. The arrangement was intended to be made at the time, and therefore I could give it the name of "Holmes and Co." (The Institute at Berlin). I arrived there in the month of January, and was already doing in the course of my studies. I had been in the city for some time, and was already doing in the course of my studies. I had been in the city for some time, and was already doing in the course of my studies.

The language taught in the Institute was English, and I was very much interested in the students, who were of various nationalities.
