Shifting Gear Cecelia Tichi, 1987 Technology in America Alan I. Marcus, Howard P. Segal, 2018-04-05 Now in a thoroughly updated new edition, this successful textbook surveys the history of technology in America from the 1600s to the 21st century. Alan I. Marcus and Howard P. Segal explore the effect society, culture, politics, and economics have had upon technological advances and place the evolution of American technology within the broader context of the development of systems such as transportation and communications. This unique book connects phenomena such as colonial printing presses with the American Revolution, early photographs with the creation of an allegedly unique American character, and high-tech advances in biotechnology with a growing desire for individual autonomy. This is an ideal resource for undergraduate and postgraduate students of the history of technology, the history of science, and American history.

Scientists, Business, and the State, 1890-1960 Patrick Joseph McGrath, 2002-01-01 McGrath describes how between 1890 and 1960 scientific, business, and political leaders together forged a new definition of American democracy in which science and technology were presented to the public as crucial ingredients of the nation's progress, prosperity, and political stability. Scientists even argued that the very act of expert collaboration, whether in business or politics, offered a model of ways to solve social problems and achieve political stability.

Silent Film and U.S. Naturalist Literature Katherine Fusco, 2016-03-17 Typically, studies of early cinema's relation to literature have focused on the interactions between film and modernism When film first emerged however it was naturalism not modernism competing for the American public's attention In this media ecosystem the cinema appeared alongside the works of authors including Charlotte Perkins Gilman Jack London and Frank Norris Drawing on contemporaneous theories of time and modernity as well as recent scholarship on film narrative and naturalism this book moves beyond traditional adaptation studies approaches to argue that both naturalism and the early cinema intervened in the era's varying experiments with temporality and time management Specifically it shows that American naturalist novels are constructed around a sustained formal and thematic interrogation of the relationship between human freedom and temporal inexorability and that the early cinema developed its norms in the context of naturalist experiments with time The book identifies the silent cinema and naturalist novel's shared privileging of narrative progress over character development as a symbolic solution to social and aesthetic concerns ranging from systems of representation to historiography labor reform miscegenation and birth control This volume thus establishes the dynamic exchange between silent film and naturalism arguing that in the products of this exchange personality figures as excess bogging down otherwise efficient narratives of progress Considering naturalist authors and a diverse range of early film genres this is the first book-length study of the reciprocal media exchanges that took place when the cinema was new It will be a valuable resource to those with interests in Adaptation Studies American Literature Film History Literary Naturalism Modernism and Narrative Theory Narrative Machine Zena Meadowsong, 2018-11-20 Narrative Machine The Naturalist Modernist and Postmodernist Novel advances a new history of the novel identifying a crucial link between narrative innovation and the historical process of mechanization In the late nineteenth century the novel grapples with a new and increasingly acute problem In its attempt to represent the colossal power of modern machinery the steam-driven machines of the Industrial Revolution the electrical machines of the modern city and the atomic and digital machines developed after the Second World War it encounters the limitations of traditional representative strategies Beginning in the naturalist novel the machine is typically portrayed as a mythic monster and though that monster represents a potentially horrific reality the superhuman power of mechanization it also disrupts the documentary objectives of narrative realism the dominant mode of nineteenth-century fiction The mechanical monster realistic and yet at odds with traditional realist strategies tears the form of the novel apart In doing so it unleashes a series of innovations that disclose critique and contest the force of mechanization the innovations associated with literary naturalism modernism and postmodernism Literature, Amusement, and Technology in the Great Depression William Solomon, 2009-10 Literature Amusement and Technology examines the exchange between literature and recreational practices in 1930s America William Solomon argues that autobiographical writers like Edward Dahlberg and Henry Miller took aesthetic inspiration from urban manifestations of the carnival spirit Coney Island amusement parks burlesque vaudeville and the dime museum display of human oddities More broadly he demonstrates that the literary projects of the period pivoted around images of grotesquely disfigured bodies which appeared as part of this recreational culture American Modernism and Depression Documentary Jeff Allred, 2012-11-01 Photos filled with the forlorn faces of hungry and impoverished Americans that came to characterize the desolation of the Great Depression are among the best known artworks of the twentieth century Captured by the camera's eye these stark depictions of suffering became iconic markers of a formative period in U S history Although there has been an ample amount of critical inquiry on Depression era photographs the bulk of scholarship treats them as isolated art objects And yet they were often joined together with evocative writing in a genre that flourished amid the period the documentary book American Modernism and Depression Documentary looks at the tradition of the hybrid verbal visual texts that flourished during a time when U S citizens were becoming increasingly conscious of the life of a larger nation Jeff Allred draws on a range of seminal works to illustrate the convergence of modernism and documentary two forms often regarded as unrelated Whereas critics routinely look to James Agee and Walker Evans Let Us Now Praise Famous Men as the sole instance of the modernist documentary book Allred turns to such works as Richard Wright's scathing 12 Million Black Voices and the oft neglected You Have Seen Their Faces by Erskine Caldwell and Margaret Bourke White to open up the critical playing field And rather than focusing on the ethos of Progressivism and or the politics and aesthetics of the New Deal Allred emphasizes the centrality of Life magazine to the consolidation of a novel cultural form Boys' Books, Boys' Dreams, and the Mystique of Flight Fred Erisman, 2006 Setting the stage technology and the series book Birdmen and boys 1905 1915 Aces and combat World War I and after 1915 1935 Interlude Charles A Lindbergh and Atlantic flight 1927 1929 The golden age I the Lindbergh progeny 1927 1939 The golden age II the air minded society 1930 1939 World War II and modern aviation 1939 1945 Aftermath a bombs rockets and space flight 1945 1950 The Buddha in the Machine R. John Williams, 2014-06-24 The writers and artists described in this book are joined by a desire to embrace Eastern aesthetics as a means of redeeming Western technoculture The assumption they all share is that at the core of modern Western culture there lies an originary and all encompassing philosophical error and that Asian art offers a way out of that awful matrix That desire this book attempts to demonstrate has informed Anglo and even Asian American debates about technology and art since the late nineteenth century and continues to skew our responses to our own technocultural environment American Literature and Immediacy Heike Schaefer, 2020-01-16 Demonstrates that the quest for immediacy or experiences of direct connection and presence has propelled the development of American literature and media culture Pastoral, Pragmatism, and Twentieth-Century American Poetry A. Mikkelsen, 2011-01-31 In the first expansive study of American pastoral since Leo Marx's The Machine in the Garden Mikkelsen reinvigorates discussion of this literary mode as a form of cultural commentary whose subjects extend beyond the simple or rustic life to encompass the major social economic and political transformations of the past century World War I and Southern Modernism David A. Davis, 2017-11-27 Winner of the 2018 Eudora Welty Prize When the United States entered World War I parts of the country had developed industries urban cultures and democratic political systems but the South lagged behind remaining an impoverished agriculture region Despite New South boosterism the culture of the early twentieth century South was comparatively artistically arid Yet southern writers dominated the literary marketplace by the 1920s and 1930s World War I brought southerners into contact with modernity before the South fully modernized This shortfall created an inherent tension between the region's existing agricultural social structure and the processes of modernization leading to distal modernism a form of writing that combines elements of modernism to depict non modern social structures Critics have struggled to formulate explanations for the eruption of modern southern literature sometimes called the Southern Renaissance Pinpointing World War I as the catalyst David A Davis argues southern modernism was not a self generating outburst of writing but a response to the disruptions modernity generated in the region In World War I and Southern Modernism Davis examines dozens of works of literature by writers including William Faulkner Ellen Glasgow and Claude McKay that depict the South during the war Topics explored in the book include contact between the North and the South southerners who served in combat and the developing southern economy Davis also provides a new lens for this argument taking a closer look at African Americans in the military and changing gender roles

The Double-edged Sword Zoltán Simon, 2003 This examination of American novels from 1900 to 1940 traces the literary treatment of the technological sublime a simultaneous awe and fear of technology The American technological sublime is a construct that can be useful in understanding the often conflicted and ambivalent reactions of enthusiasm and anxiety exaltation and depression associated with the patterns of development experienced in the US in this transitory period The first four decades of the 20th century saw the culmination of the technological sublime in America the loss of the innocently one sided enthusiasm and technological republicanism of the 19th century to a fragmented often paranoiac and largely pessimistic vision of technology that became dominant of the literature after World War II After an evaluation of earlier scholarship on the American technological sublime the study examines four important decades in the development of the American technological sublime and some of the literary responses to it

Philosophical Tools for Technological Culture Larry A. Hickman, 2001 Hickman's style of pragmatism provides us with flexible philosophical tools which can be used to analyze and penetrate various technology and technological cultural problems of the present He himself uses this toolkit to make his analyses and succeeds very well indeed Don Ihde A practical and comprehensive appraisal of the value of philosophy in today's technological culture Philosophical Tools for Technological Culture contends that technology a defining mark of contemporary culture should be a legitimate concern of philosophers Larry A Hickman contests the perception that philosophy is little more than a narrow academic discipline and that philosophical discourse is merely redescription of the ancient past Drawing inspiration from John Dewey one of America's greatest public philosophers Hickman validates the role of philosophers as cultural critics and reformers in the broadest sense Hickman situates Dewey's critique of technological culture within the debates of 20th century Western philosophy by engaging the work of Richard

Rorty Albert Borgmann Jacques Ellul Walter Benjamin Jürgen Habermas and Martin Heidegger among others Pushing beyond their philosophical concerns Hickman designs and assembles a set of philosophical tools to cope with technological culture in a new century His pragmatic treatment of current themes such as technology and its relationship to the arts technosciences and technocrats the role of the media in education and the meaning of democracy and community life in an age dominated by technology reveals that philosophy possesses powerful tools for cultural renewal This original timely and accessible work will be of interest to readers seeking a deeper understanding of the meanings and consequences of technology in today's world

Goody, 2007-04-12 This book explores the theoretical concerns of recent literary and cultural studies through a reappraisal of three innovative women writers of the modernist period Djuna Barnes Mina Loy and Gertrude Stein In its provocative combination of cultural methodologies it significantly expands on existing aesthetic cartographies of modernism
