Ships Of Stone In The Adriatic:

Ships of Stone in the Adriatic Ivo Eterović, Čedomir Kolar, 1984 A Maritime History of Bath, Maine and the Kennebec River Region William A. Baker, 1973 Venetian Ships and Shipbuilders of the Renaissance Frederic Chapin Lane, 2018-12-01

ORIGINALLY published in 1934 this major study by Frederic Lane tracks the rise and decline of the great shipbuilding industry of Renaissance Venice Drawing on a wealth of archival sources Lane presents detailed descriptions of the Venetian arsenal including the great galleys that doubled as cargo ships and warships the sixteenth century round ships which introduced dramatic innovations in rigging and were less vulnerable to attack than the galleys and the majestic galleons whose straight lines and greater speed made them ideal for merchantmen but whose narrowness made them liable to capsize if loaded with artillery Lane also includes vivid accounts of the rivalries between the famous shipbuilders of the period There was the impassioned competition between Leonardo Bressan and Marco Francesco Rosso to design the quickest lightest galley a contest that Bressan won when Rosso was crushed to death the race between Vettor Fausto and Matteo Bressan to build the best galleon for use against pirates and the rivalry between Bernardo di Bernardo and Nicol Palopano to be the master builder of great merchant galleys Additional chapters detail the actual process of ship construction from the design stage to framing and ribbing the hull to building the rigging the organization and activity of the shipbuilders craft guilds and the various private shipyards and the development and management of the Arsenal Tables and appendixes detail the types measurements number and capacity of the ships as well as the wages of the shipbuilders Making and Moving Sculpture in Early Modern Italy KelleyHelmstutler DiDio, 2017-07-05

In recent years art historians have begun to delve into the patronage production and reception of sculptures sculptors workshop practices practical aesthetic and esoteric considerations of material and materiality and the meanings associated with materials and the makers of sculptures This volume brings together some of the top scholars in the field to investigate how sculptors in early modern Italy confronted such challenges as procurement of materials their costs shipping and transportation issues and technical problems of materials along with the meanings of the usage hierarchies of materials and processes of material acquisition and production Contributors also explore the implications of these facets in terms of the intended and perceived meanings for the viewer patron and or artist A highlight of the collection is the epilogue an interview with a contemporary artist of large scale stone sculpture which reveals the similar challenges sculptors still encounter today as they procure manufacture and transport their works A Fully Accredited Ocean Victoria Brehm, 1998

Essays about the economic and industrial development of the Lakes that point out the uniqueness of the area Trade, Commodities and Shipping in the Medieval Mediterranean David Jacoby, 2024-10-28

This fourth collection by David Jacoby focuses on Western economic expansion the Eastern Mediterranean during the 11th 15th centuries He is concerned to emphasize the interconnections linking the West Byzantium and the Levant and to examine normative sources for commercial activity charters etc against the background of actual practice such as reflected in notarial documents The articles deal with the evolution of urban centres the trade in raw materials and at the same time questions of technology transfer and the mobility of merchants and craftsmen Particular attention is given to the silk trade the author argues that demographic expansion in the Byzantine world as in the West stimulated economic growth and demand for silk led to the emergence of a market driven industry in Byzantium Dalmatia and the Mediterranean Alina Payne, 2014-01-23 Using the Braudel concept of the Mediterranean this volume focuses on the condition of coastal exchanges involving the Dalmatian littoral and its Adriatic and more distant maritime network Spalato and Ragusa intersect with Constantinople Cairo and Spanish Naples just as Sinan Palladio and Robert Adam cross paths in this liquid expanse Concentrating on materiality and on the arts architecture in particular the authors identify portability and hybridity as characteristic of these exchanges and tease out expected and unexpected serendipitous moments when they occurred Focusing on translation and its instruments these essays expand the traditional concept of influence by thrusting mobility and the hardware of cultural transmission its mechanisms rather than its effects into the foreground Contributors include Doris Behrens Abouseif SOAS University of London Jo ko Belamari Institute of Art History Split Marzia Faietti Uffizi Florence Jasenka Gudelj University of Zagreb Cemal Kafadar Harvard University Ioli Kalavrezou Harvard University Suzanne Marchand State University of Louisiana Erika Naginski Harvard University G lru Necipo lu Harvard University Goran Nik i City of Split Split Alina Payne Harvard University Avinoam Shalem Columbia University and David Young Kim University of Pennsylvania Sailing from Polis to Empire: Ships in the Eastern Mediterranean during the Hellenistic Period Emmanuel Nantet , 2020-07-22 What can the architecture of ancient ships tell us about their capacity to carry cargo or to navigate certain trade routes How do such insights inform our knowledge of the ancient economies that depended on maritime trade across the Mediterranean These and similar questions lie behind Sailing from Polis to Empire a fascinating insight into the practicalities of trading by boat in the ancient world Allying modern scientific knowledge with Hellenistic sources this interdisciplinary collection brings together experts in various fields of ship archaeology to shed new light on the role played by ships and sailing in the exchange networks of the Mediterranean Covering all parts of the Eastern Mediterranean these outstanding contributions delve into a broad array of data literary epigraphical papyrological iconographic and archaeological to understand the trade routes that connected the economies of individual cities and kingdoms Unique in its interdisciplinary approach and focus on the Hellenistic period this collection digs into the questions that others don t think to ask and comes up with sometimes surprising answers It will be of value to researchers in the fields of naval architecture Classical and Hellenistic history social history and ancient geography and to all those with an interest in the ancient world or the seafaring life The Economics of the Roman Stone Trade Ben Russell, 2013 Russell provides an examination of the production distribution and use of carved stone objects in the Roman world Focusing on the market for stone and its supply he offers an assessment of the practicalities of stone transport and how the relationship between producer and customer
