German Literature Between Faiths Peter Meister, 2004 Religion is a central concern of German literature in all centuries and the canon looks different when this perspective is acknowledged For example Goethe's fascination with evil is difficult to disentangle from the Holocaust Moses Mendelssohn is as profound as the playwright who portrayed him and Princess Sabbath deserves to be numbered among Heine's more enchanting lyrics This essay collection posits and tests the hypothesis that German literature at its best is often an expression or investigation of Judaism or Christianity at their best but that the best German literature is not always the best known and vice versa Asking whether the New Testament is anti Jewish and answering in the negative essayists range through the German centuries from The Heliand to Kafka and Thomas Mann

Looking Backward, Moving Forward Richard G. Hovannisian, 2017-07-05 The decades separating our new century from the Armenian Genocide the prototype of modern day nation killings have fundamentally changed the political composition of the region Virtually no Armenians remain on their historic territories in what is today eastern Turkey The Armenian people have been scattered about the world And a small independent republic has come to replace the Armenian Soviet Socialist Republic which was all that was left of the homeland as the result of Turkish invasion and Bolshevik collusion in 1920 One element has remained constant Notwithstanding the eloquent compelling evidence housed in the United States National Archives and repositories around the world successive Turkish governments have denied that the predecessor Young Turk regime committed genocide and like the Nazis who followed their example sought aggressively to deflect blame by accusing the victims themselves This volume argues that the time has come for Turkey to reassess the propriety of its approach and to begin the process that will allow it move into a post genocide era The work includes Genocide An Agenda for
