well as linguistics anthropology and sociology In this book a comprehensive integrative model is proposed in which all of these approaches are synthesized into a single coherent whole The unifying hypothesis behind this synthesis is that make believe play is a semiotic system a body of signs and symbols a language by means of which children express themselves and communicate This language enables children to regulate and balance both their inner emotional life and their social life Another central hypothesis is therefore that make believe play functions as an homeostatic feedback mechanism for controlling the level of arousal around the child s central concerns as well as the level of interpersonal conflict around issues of social proximity and power Therapeutic and education applications of make believe play are derived from these hypotheses and their ramifications
