Shooting Montezuma A Hollywood Monster Story:

Shooting Montezuma Jan Merlin, 2001-12-01 Jan Merlin film star and Emmy winning writer exposes the reader to a perspective that only first hand experience can provide Literally scripted about an odd movie in which the audience is to guess who was acting in disguise behind masks the book reveals how a film is ingeniously made and how it affects those involved in it With celebrated stars a legendary director and an egotistic make up artist extraordinaire the company goes on location to Brazil Scandals feuds power plays all surround the production of a major film with a gimmick and the secret about it they find unable to keep For those who revel in the magic of movies this novel will intrigue for those who know the tricks of the trade this will confirm their suspicions See February 2004 copy of VIDEO WATCHDOG for an intensive interview with Mr Merlin about the LIST OF ADRIAN MESSENGER and how his work in that film led to this novel s creation John Huston

as Adaptor Douglas McFarland, Wesley King, 2017-01-28 John Huston as Adaptor makes the case that adaptation is the salient element in Huston s identity as a filmmaker and that his early and deep attraction to the experience of reading informed his approach to film adaptation Thirty four of Huston s thirty seven films were adaptations of literary texts and they stand as serious interpretations of literary works that could only be made by an astute reader of literature Indeed Huston asserted that a film director should be above all else a reader and that reading itself should be the intellectual and emotional basis for filmmaking The seventeen essays in this volume not only address Huston as an adaptor but also offer an approach to adaptation studies that has been largely overlooked How an adaptor reads the works to which he is drawn and how his literary interpretations can be brought to the screen without relegating film to a subservient role are some of the issues addressed by the contributors An introductory chapter identifies Huston as the quintessential Hollywood adaptor and argues that his skill at adaptation is the mark of his authorial signature The chapters that follow focus on fifteen of Huston s most important films including The Maltese Falcon 1941 The Treasure of the Sierra Madre 1948 The African Queen 1951 The Night of the Iguana 1964 Under the Volcano 1984 and The Dead 1987 and are divided into three areas aesthetics and textuality history and social context and theory and psychoanalysis By offering a more comprehensive account of the centrality of adaptation to Huston s films John Huston as Adaptor offers a greater understanding of Huston as a filmmaker

History vs Hollywood M J Trow,2024-05-30 Film studios have been making historical movies now for over a century In that time thousands of films have been made covering not just centuries but millennia Did Neanderthal woman really look like Raquel Welch in her bearskin bikini Did 6 000 rebellious slaves claim that they were Spartacus Did Berengaria complain to her husband Richard the Lionheart War war that s all you think about Dick Plantagenet Was El Cid strapped to his horse s saddle to lead his army after he was dead These aren t questions of history they are questions of Hollywood Charlton Heston was a foot too tall for General Charles Gordon John Wayne was a tad too American for Genghis Khan Eric von Stroheim s bald head was an odd choice for the perfectly hirsute Erwin Rommel And Warren Beatty and Fay Dunaway were far too gorgeous for bank robbers Bonnie and Clyde Hollywood never gets it right History and its characters are endlessly complicated and producers directors and screenwriters have a simple story to tell They have a maximum of two hours to explain what happened over weeks or months or years and many of it give it their best shot Yet for all Hollywood s shortcomings in recreating the past it has managed to evoke eras and people long dead in a magical way that has kept millions of us enthralled for generations
