Marriage and Land Law in Shakespeare and Middleton Nancy

Mohrlock Bunker, 2014-07-30 Marriage and Land Law in Shakespeare and Middleton examines the dynamics of early modern marriage making a time honored practice that was evolving often surreptitiously from patriarchal control based on money and inheritance to a companionate union in which love and the couple's own agency played a role. Among early modern playwrights the marriage plays of Shakespeare and Middleton are particularly though not uniquely concerned with this evolution observing the movement towards spousal choice determined by the couple themselves. Through the late Elizabethan and early Jacobean period the role of the patriarch though often compromised remained intact the father or guardian negotiated the financial terms. And in a culture that was still tied to feudal practices land law held a primary place in the bargain. This book while following the arc of changing marriage practices focuses on the ways in which the oldest determination of status land affects marital decisions. Land is not a constant topic of conversation in the twenty one theatrical marriages scrutinized here but it is a persistent and omnipresent truth of family and economic life. In paired discussions of marriage plays by Shakespeare and Middleton The Taming of the Shrew A Chaste Maid in Cheapside All's Well That Ends Well A Trick To Catch the Old One Measure for Measure A Mad World My Masters The Merchant of Venice The Roaring Girl and Much Ado About Nothing No Wit No Help Like A Woman's this book explores the attempts maneuvers intrigues ruses and schemes that marriageable characters deploy in order to control spousal choice and secure land. Special attention is given to patriarchal figures whose poor judgment exploits inheritance law weaknesses and to the lack of legal protection and hence the vulnerability of women and men who engage the system in unconventional ways. Investigation into the milieu of early modern patriarchal influence in marriage making and the laws governing inheritance practices enables a fresh reading of Shakespeare's and Middleton's marriage comedies. Married Women and the Law in Premodern Northwest Europe Cordelia Beattie, Matthew Frank Stevens, 2013 Fresh approaches to how premodern women were viewed in legal terms demonstrating how this varied from country to country and across the centuries. Europe 1850-1914 Jonathan Sperber, 2014-01-14 This innovative survey of European history from the middle of the nineteenth century to the outbreak of the First World War tells the story of an era of outward tranquillity that was also a period of economic growth social transformation political contention and scientific and artistic innovation. During these years the foundations of our present urban industrial society were laid the five Great Powers vied in peaceful and violent fashion for dominance in Europe and throughout the world and the darker forces that were to dominate the twentieth century violent nationalism totalitarianism racism ethnic cleansing began to make themselves felt. Jonathan Sperber sets out developments in this period across the entire European continent from the Atlantic to the Urals from the Baltic to the Mediterranean. To help students of European history grasp the main dynamics of the period he divides the book into three overlapping sections covering the periods from 1850-75 1871-95 and 1890-1914. In each period he identifies developments and tendencies that were common in varying degrees to the whole of Europe while also pointing the unique qualities of specific regions and individual countries.

Throughout his argument is supported by illustrative material tables charts case studies and other explanatory features and there is a detailed bibliography to help students to explore further in those areas that interest them
