Shopping Around Feminine Culture And The Pursuit Of Pleasure:

Shopping Around Hilary Radner, 2012-11-12 Shopping Around investigates the issues of contemporary popular narrative feminine pleasure and consumer culture viewing the permutations of the feminine subject as a textual construction evolved through everyday life. A wide spectrum of texts are examined exposing the fact that women read within a complex and conflicted cultural arena characterized by a significant intertextuality that multiply defines femininity. Shopping Around raises these issues in the context of everyday cultural practices such as applying make up, reading magazines, watching television, and working out, providing a unique introduction to postmodern feminist and cultural theory. Prom Night Amy L. Best, 2013-05-13 Prom Night shows us that while the prom is often trivialized, most kids take the prom seriously. The prom is a space where kids work through their understanding of authority, social class, gender norms, and multicultural schooling. Proms are more than just pictures and puffed sleeves; they are a mythic part of youth culture and for better or worse will always be a night to remember. The Television Will be Revolutionized Amanda D. Lotz, 2007-11 After occupying a central space in American living rooms for the past fifty years, television as we've known it is dead. This work examines television at the turn of the twenty-first century. It takes us behind the screen to explore what is changing, why it's changing, and why these changes matter. New Forms of Consumption Mark Gottdiener, 2000 Consumption as a field of cultural studies overlaps with theories of postmodernism, the social construction of self, commodification in late capitalism, and the role of mass media in daily life. New forms of consumption such as those facilitated by cyberspace, themed environments, the commodification of sex, and the increasing role of leisure in society all play new and interesting roles in daily life that combine consumerism with the most contemporary social forms. This collection of essays examines the recent ways in which consumerism has been approached by cultural studies with special emphasis given to these and other newly emerging topics. The book is divided into three parts. The first part provides a theoretical overview of consumption studies dealing with classical and more contemporary approaches in light of the debate between advocates and critics of postmodernism. In this section, there are papers on McDonaldization, tourism, and cultural studies, and the Theory of Shopping. The second part emphasizes empirical studies of the commodification process. Papers address the transformation of women's bodies and the mass commodification of milk, the creation of the toddler as a subject, and the commodification of childhood, the commodification of sports, and the commodification of rock music. The third section of the book explores new forms of consumption on a more detailed and concentrated level. Papers in this section include the rise of sex tourism as a global industry, the commodification of the sacred, and the emergence of new consumer spaces in the city. An introduction by the editor delineates the advantages of his approach to new forms of consumption based squarely in the emerging issues of cultural studies, debates transcending postmodernism and the society of the spectacle. The New Woman's Film Hilary Radner, 2017-01-20 With the chick flick arguably in decline, film scholars may well ask what has become of the woman's film. Little attention has been paid to the proliferation of films often from the independent sector that do not sit comfortably in either the category of popular culture or that of high art films that are perhaps the corollary of the middle brow novel or smart chick flicks This book seeks to fill this void by focusing on the steady stream of films about and for women that emerge out of independent American and European cinema and that are designed to address an international female audience The new woman's film as a genre includes narratives with strong ties to the woman's film of classical Hollywood while constituting a new distinctive cycle of female centered films that in many ways continue the project of second wave feminism albeit in a modified form Topics addressed include The Bridges of Madison County Clint Eastwood 1995 the feature length films of Nicole Holofcener 1996 2013 the film roles of Tilda Swinton Rachel Getting Married Jonathan Demme 2008 Blue Jasmine Woody Allen 2013 Frances Ha Noah Baumbach 2012 Belle Amma Asante 2013 Fifty Shades of Grey Sam Taylor Johnson 2015 and Jane Campion's Top of the Lake Sundance Channel 2013

Handbook of Sports Studies Jay Coakley, Eric Dunning, 2000 An authoritative cast of international and inter disciplinary contributors present the best of current thinking in sports studies as the subject matures and develops academically

Resistance, Flight, Creation Dorothea Olkowski, 2000 Thirteen women at the forefront of philosophy locate new feminist points of view within the discipline by rigorously engaging works of contemporary French philosophy In so doing they both transform the standard practices of the field and carve out new territory These writers amplify the work of feminist philosophers such as Simone de Beauvoir Luce Irigaray and Sarah Kofman in ways that are both stylistically and substantively creative They also appropriate for radical feminist use the works of male philosophers such as Michel Foucault Gilles Deleuze Maurice Merleau Ponty and Jean Paul Sartre The essays illustrate the manner in which feminist philosophers bypass traditional methodology in favor of a disciplinary freedom characterized by fluid methodologies best exemplified in Beauvoir's work and by the employment of imaginative forms including the autobiographical and the poetic The modes of inquiry used here range variously from psychoanalysis and existentialism to deconstruction post structuralism and newly resurgent phenomenology This volume also contains a comprehensive bibliography of feminist thinkers who are enacting French philosophy in English German and French

Femininity and Authorship in the Novels of Elizabeth von Arnim Juliane Römhild, 2014-06-25 When Elizabeth von Arnim anonymously published her debut Elizabeth and Her German Garden 1898 she became a literary star overnight The mystery surrounding the identity of this witty aristocratic diarist in her romantic garden kept readers guessing Who was Elizabeth A Prussian Princess The daughter of Queen Victoria Throughout her long and successful career as one of England's best satirical novelists von Arnim never officially revealed her identity Instead to her readers and friends she simply became known as Elizabeth From her first book to her capricious autobiography All the Dogs of My Life 1936 throughout her career von Arnim would explore questions of identity and self representation And in spite of von Arnim's love of masquerades and guises her books include funny and surprisingly personal meditations on the challenges of being a woman writer wrestling with a masculine literary tradition of taking pride in one's commercial success while moving in Modernist circles and of being both a hard working professional and an elegant hostess In tracing the conflict between femininity and authorship in von Arnim's works this book engages with key literary issues of the time Von Arnim's early books offer a witty critique of New Woman fiction Von Arnim's self positioning on the literary market and her relationships with writers like Katherine Mansfield Henry James and Virginia Woolf shed light on the connections between middlebrow and modernist literature Von Arnim's complex autobiography finally gives a tentative answer to the all important question can a writing woman be a lady

Transitions in Domestic Consumption and Family Life in the Modern Middle East: Houses in Motion R. Shechter,2003-11-28 The volume focuses on three countries Egypt Israel and Turkey earlier the Ottoman Empire in the period between the mid nineteenth and the early Twenty first centuries It studies the consumption of homes and domesticity as changing processes in space and time It further foregrounds research into the impact of economic political and socio cultural transformations on the private life of individuals Even more so the volume advances the discussion on the processes of restructuring of self identity and lifestyles via acts of consumption The volume focuses on the market where producers and consumers meet the state and the national movements with their respective ideologies and practices the role of advertisers but also the agency of individual and group choice In addition it discusses in different ways the close interrelations between the representation of home and domestic life for example in journals books and photography and the political economy of house consumption Thus this volume avoids the notion of linearity and progress in the transition to modern lifestyles in favour of more subtle accounts of the different venues in which people in the Middle East restructure their most immediate and intimate surroundings

A Latina in the Land of Hollywood Angharad N. Valdivia, 2022-08-23 From ads for Victoria's Secret to the character roles of Rosie Perez the mass media have been defining race and femininity In this diverse set of essays Angharad N Valdivia breaks theoretical and methodological boundaries by exploring the relationship of the media to various audiences Throughout A Latina in the Land of Hollywood we are challenged to think differently about the media messages we often unconsciously consume such as the popular representations of certain Latina cultural icons Valdivia shows how reporters focus on Guatemalan activist Rigoberta Mench's big smile Brazilian media magnate Xuxa's blonde hair and Puerto Rican actress Rosie Perez's high pitched voice never quite creating a comprehensive portrayal of these women In her discussion of lingerie catalogs Valdivia uncovers a similarly skewed depiction The lush high class bedrooms of Victoria's Secret differ as much from the earthy spare world of Frederick's of Hollywood as the types sizes and uses of the lingerie that the two companies sell Valdivia takes a look at family films arguing that single mothers are almost always portrayed as either trappy floozies or sexless hapless women whereas single dads fare much better Whether examining one teenager's likes and dislikes or considering single parenthood in family films Valdivia investigates how popular culture has become the arena in which we struggle to know ourselves and to make ourselves known She calls for scholars to move beyond investigating implicit themes in films and media to studying the ways that audiences of different colors ages genders and sexual preferences might understand or misunderstand such cultural messages A Latina in the Land of Hollywood aims to explode traditional discussions of media and popular culture It is a must read for anyone interested in popular culture television and film

A Latina in the Land of Hollywood and Other Essays on Media Culture

Angharad N. Valdivia, 2000-03 From ads for Victoria's Secret to the character roles of Rosie Perez the mass media have been defining race and femininity In this diverse set of essays Angharad N Valdivia breaks theoretical and methodological boundaries by exploring the relationship of the media to various audiences Throughout A Latina in the Land of Hollywood we are challenged to think differently about the media messages we often unconsciously consume such as the popular representations of certain Latina cultural icons Valdivia shows how reporters focus on Guatemalan activist Rigoberta Mench's big smile Brazilian media magnate Xuxa's blonde hair and Puerto Rican actress Rosie Perez's high pitched voice never quite creating a comprehensive portrayal of these women In her discussion of lingerie catalogs Valdivia uncovers a similarly skewed depiction The lush high class bedrooms of Victoria s Secret differ as much from the earthy spare world of Frederick s of Hollywood as the types sizes and uses of the lingerie that the two companies sell Valdivia takes a look at family films arguing that single mothers are almost always portrayed as either trappy floozies or sexless hapless women whereas single dads fare much better Whether examining one teenager s likes and dislikes or considering single parenthood in family films Valdivia investigates how popular culture has become the arena in which we struggle to know ourselves and to make ourselves known She calls for scholars to move beyond investigating implicit themes in films and media to studying the ways that audiences of different colors ages genders and sexual preferences might understand or misunderstand such cultural messages A Latina in the Land of Hollywood aims to explode traditional discussions of media and popular culture It is a must read for anyone interested in popular culture television and film

American Postfeminist Cinema Michele Schreiber,2014-03-11 In light of their tremendous gains in the political and professional sphere and their ever expanding options why is it that most contemporary American films aimed at women still focus almost exclusively on their pursuit of a heterosexual romantic relationship American Postfeminist Cinema explores this question and is the first book to examine the symbiotic relationship between heterosexual romance and postfeminist culture The book argues that since 1980 postfeminism s most salient tensions and anxieties have been reflected and negotiated in the American romance film Case studies of a broad range of Hollywood and independent films reveal how the postfeminist romance cycle is intertwined with contemporary women s ambivalence and broader cultural anxieties about women s changing social and political status
