Going Concern Valuation L. Deane Wilson, Ma Asa, Robin G. Wilson, Mai, 2012-02 Our purpose in writing this book is multifaceted. First, this book aims to present a clear understanding of going concern valuations at the same time resolving the current misrepresentations surrounding the issue. Additionally, this book offers a new set of rules readers can use to determine which property types qualify as going concern valuations and which do not This book presents an understanding that in performing a Going Concern Valuation of properties which are perceived to have a business component it may not be possible to segregate allocate or value the components individually For example when appraising the going concern value of a motel with occupancy of 75% it could be argued and possibly proven that there is a value that can be separated from the overall value or going concern value to the business component On the other hand however appraising that same motel with only 40% occupancy presents a completely different set of circumstances that could easily draw completely opposite conclusions It simply may be a lack of sufficient tools or data to argue and prove that the business component in fact has value separate from the real estate To do so with authority is tantamount to ignorance or arrogance strike a proper balance between Main Street and Wall Street The authors and editors hope that this book will influence the industry to incorporate many of Graaskamp s ideas into mainstream real estate education and practice Over the course of his career Graaskamp made many noteworthy contributions to real estate theory and practice ideas that if resurrected could offset some of the pressure in the industry to move away from market fundamentals The authors try to capture the essence of Graaskamp s messages and intend that the papers serve as a point of departure for discussing the future role and nature of real estate education Part I focuses on the major contributions to the real estate discipline made by Graaskamp and the Wisconsin Real Estate Program Part II contains some personal recollections and photos of Graaskamp and also a summary of the groups that make up the Wisconsin Real Estate Program a major co sponsor of this volume The rest of the book s three main parts are structured around major topics that reflect the multidisciplinary nature of real estate as espoused by Graaskamp Part III treats real estate feasibility and development Part IV concentrates on real estate valuation and Part V discusses institutional economics
