The First African American Samurai Tyrone R. Aiken MSPM,2024-05-17 When John Womble a young US Army Ranger arrived at his posting at Camp Wood in Kumamoto Japan in 1954 his perception of Japan and its people had been molded by the post WWII racially charged portrayals of the Land of the Rising Sun in American media However he quickly realized that the way American media had portrayed them was not the truth just like the stereotypical and racist depictions of Black Americans never mirrored reality Interested in learning more about the country and its traditions Womble often ventured outside the base and into the small city which housed a striking 400 year old castle that had been the battleground of the great feudal lords of ancient Japan Drawn more and more into Japanese history and culture he took the time to learn the language and code of ethics One day he attended a boxing match where he witnessed a Samurai quickly knock out an American boxer That s when his life changed forever Determined to become a Samurai he was selected to attend the prestigious School of Samurai where the training was rigorous So rigorous in fact that most students quit But not Womble He trained hard physically handled the mental and emotional toll that the discipline imposed upon him and eventually succeeded in becoming a Samurai After being discharged from the military Womble went back home no longer as the na ve teenager who left but as the first African American Samurai He committed his life to using his Samurai training to serve his community helping inner city youth to strive despite all the difficulties they faced from poverty and gun violence to racism and lack of opportunities This book written by one of his students is the ultimate testament to the long lasting legacy and impact he had on those lucky enough to call him sensei Books in Print Supplement ,1985 Black Belt ,1974-08 The oldest and most respected martial arts title in the industry this popular monthly magazine addresses the needs of martial artists of all levels by providing them with information about every style of self defense in the world including techniques and strategies In addition Black Belt produces and markets over 75 martial arts oriented books and videos including many about the works of Bruce Lee the best known marital arts figure in the world Black Belt ,1987-04 The oldest and most respected martial arts title in the industry this popular monthly magazine addresses the needs of martial artists of all levels by providing them with information about every style of self defense in the world including techniques and strategies In addition Black Belt produces and markets over 75 martial arts oriented books and videos including many about the works of Bruce Lee the best known marital arts figure in the world
