Ling, Gwei-Djen Lu, 1971 Round Heads Jitka Soukopova, 2013-01-16 The Central Sahara is considered the greatest museum of rock art in the world containing several thousand prehistoric and recent images The oldest paintings called Round Heads originated during a humid phase in the 10th millennium before present and they were created by dark skinned hunter gatherers living in the Algerian and Libyan mountains Rock shelters show mainly anthropomorphic figures with body paintings and other embellishments testifying ancient rituals and ceremonies Only two animal species antelope and mouflon appear to be as important as men and women mixed with them on the same walls these animals had a fundamental place in the ideology of the period Since the discovery by Europeans in the 19th century research in the Sahara has been scarce due to the difficult working conditions and to the problematic politics associated with national permissions The rock art and the archaeology have always been treated as separated disciplines and only rarely were the paintings associated with a material culture They have been described and classified but not interpreted because it was considered unachievable Using interdisciplinary studies this book approaches the previously neglected fields of the study of Saharan rock art and it proposes new ways to research the art and the societies that created it The Arts of China Michael Sullivan, 1984-01-01 Calls attention to arts which have developed and flourished in China since the Stone Age Bulletin Östasiatiska museet, 1979

A History of Art in Ancient Egypt (1&2) Georges Perrot, Charles Chipiez, 2020-06-26 A History of Art in Ancient Egypt in two volumes is a study of Egyptian arts and of their connection with the national religion and civilization written by French archeologists and historians Georges Perrot and Charles Chipiez The aim of the work was to trace the course of the great evolution which culminated in the age of Pericles and came to an end in that of Marcus Aurelius That evolution forms a complete entirety an unbroken chain of cause and effect uniting the two eras Using carefully selected examples authors prove that the art of the Egyptians went through the same process of development as those of other nationalities earlier and later ones and that the unique quality of the sculptures and paintings of the Nile Valley was a persistent affinity to simplification which comes in part from the habit created by writing the hieroglyphic and in part from the materials used

Bulletin of the College Art Association of America , 1947-06 Includes section Notes and reviews A History of Art in Ancient Egypt From the French of George Perrot, Professor in the Faculty of Letters, Paris ; Member of the Institute and Charles Chipiez Walter Armstrong, 2025-08-24 Reprint of the original first published in 1883 The Antigonos publishing house specialises in the publication of reprints of historical books We make sure that these works are made available to the public in good condition in order to preserve their cultural heritage A history of art in ancient Egypt Vol.2 (of 2) (Illustrations) Georges Perrot, Charles Chipiez, 2019-05-19 The successful interpretation of the ancient writings of Egypt Chaldaea and Persia which has distinguished our times makes it necessary that the history of antiquity should be rewritten Documents that for thousands of years lay hidden beneath the soil and inscriptions which like those of Egypt and Persia long offered themselves to the gaze of man merely to excite his impotent curiosity have now been deciphered and made to render up their secrets for the guidance of the historian By the help of those strings of hieroglyphs and of cuneiform characters illustrated by paintings and sculptured reliefs we are enabled to separate the truth from the falsehood the chaff from the wheat in the narratives of the Greek writers who busied themselves with those nations of Africa and Asia which preceded their own in the ways of civilization Day by day as new monuments have been discovered and more certain methods of reading their inscriptions elaborated we have added to the knowledge left us by Herodotus and Diodorus Siculus to our acquaintance with those empires on the Euphrates and the Nile which were already in old age when the Greeks were yet struggling to emerge from their primitive barbarism Even in the cases of Greece and Rome whose histories are supplied in their main lines by their classic writers the study of hitherto neglected writings discloses many new and curious details The energetic search for ancient inscriptions and the scrupulous and ingenious interpretation of their meaning which we have witnessed and are witnessing have revealed to us many interesting facts of which no trace is to be found in Thucydides or Xenophon in Livy or Tacitus enabling us to enrich with more than one feature the picture of private and public life which they have handed down to us In the effort to embrace the life of ancient times as a whole many attempts have been made to fix the exact place in it occupied by art but those attempts have never been absolutely successful because the comprehension of works of art of plastic creations in the widest significance of that word demands an amount of special knowledge which the great majority of historians are without art has a method and language of its own which obliges those who wish to learn it thoroughly to cultivate their taste by frequenting the principal museums of Europe by visiting distant regions at the cost of considerable trouble and expense by perpetual reference to the great collections of engravings photographs and other reproductions which considerations of space and cost prevent the savant from possessing at home More than one learned author has never visited Italy or Greece or has found no time to examine their museums each of which contains but a small portion of the accumulated remains of antique art Some connoisseurs do not even live in a capital but dwell far from those public libraries which often contain valuable collections and sometimes when they are not packed away in cellars or at the binder s allow them to be studied by the curious 2 The study of art difficult enough in itself is thus rendered still more arduous by the obstacles which are thrown in its way The difficulty of obtaining materials for self improvement in this direction affords the true explanation of the absence in modern histories of antiquity of those laborious researches which have led to such great results since Winckelmann founded the science of arch ology as we know it To be continue in this ebook

B.H. Blackwell B.H. Blackwell Ltd,1939 EARLY METALLURGY IN NIGERIA Adeniyi A. Afonja, Humankind is believed to have existed in Africa for over 6 million years based on the dating of excavated fossils Transformations took place over time in response to severe climate changes and the Modern Human believed to be the first to spread beyond Africa evolved only about 2 million years ago and did not move to other parts of the world until about 200 000 years ago What is now known about ancient human history came from several sources paleontologists excavate and evaluate human and article fossils dating back 2 3 million years archaeologists excavate ancient sites and study recovered articles mostly dating back 40 60 000 years historians study oral and recorded history but the scope is limited to about 3 000 years when writing was invented Archaeometallurgy evolved in the second half of the last century and has become a major tool for the study of ancient metals metalworking structures tools waste products and finished artifacts using techniques from the physical sciences While this does not in anyway distract from the traditional approach of other archaeo scientists it is a very valuable complement since it provides in depth information about ore and slag composition furnace design macro and micro analysis of objects all of which give vital information about the probable production techniques Materials have played a central role throughout human history starting with stone flint wood straw and transitioning to metals around ten to twelve thousand years ago In fact the major stages of historical evolution are delineated by the materials that were in prominent use Stone Age Bronze Age Iron Age etc If Africa is indeed the cradle of humankind then it should have a very rich archaeo history but most of the discoveries so far have been accidental This book presents the results of a comprehensive study of the rich early archeometallurgical history of Nigeria which dates back to around 800 BC in the context of early world metallurgy Issues treated include probable socio ethno cultural settings practices in the context of early world metal cultures provenance of technologies and local technological innovations

Sentient Archaeologies Courtney Nimura, Rebecca O'Sullivan, Richard Bradley, 2023-07-15 Archaeology in the past century has seen a major shift from theoretical frameworks that treat the remains of past societies as static snapshots of particular moments in time to interpretations that prioritize change and variability Though established analytical concepts such as typology remain key parts of the archaeologist s investigative toolkit data gathering strategies and interpretative frameworks have become infused progressively with the concept that archaeology is living in the sense of both the objects of study and the discipline as a whole The significance for the field is that researchers across the world are integrating ideas informed by relational epistemologies and mutually constructive ontologies into their work from the initial stage of project design all the way down to post excavation interpretation This volume showcases examples of such work highlighting the utility of these ideas to exploring material both old and new The illuminating research and novel explanations presented contribute to resolving long standing problems in regional archaeologies across Africa Asia Australia Europe and Oceania In this way this volume reinvigorates approaches taken towards older material but also acts as a springboard for future innovative discussions of theory in archaeology and related disciplines

The Yucatan-From Prehistoric Times to the Great Maya Revolt Douglas T. Peck, 2005-07-29 This book introduces an innovative and verified pattern of Maya history that follows the origin of the Olmec culture in Tabasco through its melding into and becoming the Chontal Maya Itza of the Yucatan The Yucatan has been the focal point and geographical crossroad of profound cultural ethnological and sociological change and development in Mesoamerica from ancient times to the present This far reaching and historically significant acculturation was brought about by two widely separated epic migrations and military conquests by foreign peoples bringing radically new innovative and advanced culture to the area The first of these was the migration and military conquest by the Olmec Chontal Maya Itza from Tabasco bringing their written language mathematics architectural expertise and religion into northern and central Yucatan This golden age of Maya civilization centered in the Yucatan lasted for a millennium during which the advanced Maya culture flowered and spread south into Honduras and Guatemala and west into the highlands of Mexico In like manner the second migration and military conquest of the Yucatan by Spanish conquistadors also brought new and advanced cultural norms to the area The history of the origin development and impact of these two momentous events constitutes the thrust of this book and is contrary to and challenges much of the currently accepted historiography related to the subject Contrary to current consensus the book shows that the seafaring and mercantile oriented Chontal Maya Itza from Yucatan were a populous worldly element of the Maya civilization who traveled and spread their cultural influence not only throughout continental Mesoamerica but ventured across the seas to the islands of the Caribbean and to the shores of Southwest Florida in the territory of the Calusa Indians Consistent with this accomplishment they had developed naval engineering Metallurgy tool design woodworking and ship building capabilities that enabled them to construct the large composite seaworthy vessels not just log canoes required And from their expertise in mathematics and astronomy they developed a sophisticated method of celestial navigation for their overseas voyages a millennium before celestial navigation was developed in Europe
