Black and White Cinema Wheeler Winston Dixon, 2015-11-06 From the glossy monochrome of the classic Hollywood romance to the gritty greyscale of the gangster picture to film noir's moody interplay of light and shadow black and white cinematography has been used to create a remarkably wide array of tones Yet today with black and white film stock nearly impossible to find these cinematographic techniques are virtually extinct and filmgoers' appreciation of them is similarly waning Black and White Cinema is the first study to consider the use of black and white as an art form in its own right providing a comprehensive and global overview of the era when it flourished from the 1900s to the 1960s Acclaimed film scholar Wheeler Winston Dixon introduces us to the masters of this art discussing the signature styles and technical innovations of award winning cinematographers like James Wong Howe Gregg Toland Freddie Francis and Sven Nykvist Giving us a unique glimpse behind the scenes Dixon also reveals the creative teams from lighting technicians to matte painters whose work profoundly shaped the look of black and white cinema More than just a study of film history this book is a rallying cry meant to inspire a love for the artistry of black and white film so that we might work to preserve this important part of our cinematic heritage Lavishly illustrated with more than forty on the set stills Black and White Cinema provides a vivid and illuminating look at a creatively vital era

Film and History James Chapman, 2017-09-16 Film is the pre eminent mass medium of the modern age It is a valuable source of evidence for the study of both the past and the contemporary world and is a social practice that has affected the lives of millions How can historians engage with this important and influential medium Written for both students and teachers Film and History provides a concise accessible introduction to the use of film in historical enquiry and a summary of the main theoretical debates Charts the development of film history as a subject area and a discipline in its own right Considers different approaches to film history including film as an art form as ideology as a historical source and as a social practice Includes case studies to ground discussion of theories and approaches in specific examples Wide ranging and authoritative Film and History equips students with the methods both to analyse film texts and to understand the place of film in history and culture

Movies and Methods Bill Nichols, 1976 VOLUME 2 Movies and Methods Volume II captures the developments that have given history and genre studies imaginative new models and indicates how feminist structuralist and psychoanalytic approaches to film have achieved fresh valuable insights In his thoughtful introduction Nichols provides a context for the paradoxes that confront film studies today He shows how shared methods and approaches continue to stimulate much of the best writing about film points to common problems most critics and theorists have tried to resolve and describes the internal contradictions that have restricted the usefulness of post structuralism Mini introductions place each essay in a larger context and suggest its linkages with other essays in the volume A great variety of approaches and methods characterize film writing today and the final part conveys their diversity from statistical style analysis to phenomenology and from gay criticisms to neoformalism This concluding part also shows how the rigorous use of a broad range of approaches has helped remove post structuralist criticism from its position of dominance through most of the seventies and early eighties
